ATOM SUB LAUNCHING MARKS TRAFALGAR DAY

BARROW-IN-FURNESS (Reuters) — The Royal Navy entered the nuclear age today as Queen Elizabeth launched Dreadnought, Britain's first atomic-powered submarine.

The launching of the 3,500-ton vessel, equipped with an American engine, was staged on Trafalgar Day, anniversary of the naval victory over Napoleon 155 years ago.

One of the most powerful weapons of war ever produced by Britain, the whale-shaped craft will, if trials prove satisfactory, be the prototype of a first series of nuclear "killer" submarines.

The vessel is expected to be in operation in 1962.

'WE WON'T BE PUSHED OUT'

U.S. Will Hold Base in Cuba

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said Thursday that the navy won't be pushed out of its base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Naval Base Strength 'Beefed Up'

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The navy reported today it has beefed up its marine contingent at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba.

The action coincided with diplomatic reports here that Cuba is expected to establish diplomatic relations shortly with Communist East Germany, further tightening Castro's political and economic ties with the Soviet and Communist Chinese bloc.

The navy declined to disclose the size of the increase but a spokesman said it was "not large." The normal marine complement at Guantanamo is 180 enlisted men and eight officers, the spokesman said.

'Buy Canada' Cuban Theme

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says four businessmen left Havana for Toronto this week with Cuban orders for $7,500,000 worth of Canadian goods.

The newspaper says its information was from Roger Parlow, Canadian commercial secretary in Havana, who is quoted as saying every Cuban government agency is "shopping furiously for almost everything they can get."

More Canadian Sales If Cubans Can Pay

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times says in an article today most Canadian exporters expect to increase sales to Cuba as a result of the United States embargo on U.S. exports.

But, says a dispatch from Montreal, the increase will be dependent upon Cuba's ability to pay cash and whether the U.S. will apply the Foreign Assets Control Act.

Application of the Act would mean no Canadian subsidiary of an American corporation could trade with Cuba.

Canada has protested use of the Act on previous occasions — in trade with Communist China — and got from the U.S. a reluctant agreement not to Black Market to Help?

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's economic czar said Thursday night the U.S. embargo on most exports to Cuba will not seriously harm the island nation, partly because black marketeers in the United States will defy it.

But National Bank president Ernesto Che Guevara conceded Cuba faces difficulties. He said Cuba "must have confidence in the solidarity of the nations that have offered to stand by us."

invoke it where it might affect the Canadian economy.

Canadian sales to Cuba are conditioned on guaranteed payments.

Exemption of Canadian banks from Premier Fidel Castro's nationalization moves takes on "additional significance," The Financial Times says.

"The banks are obviously to be used to finance Canadian trade with Cuba — probably through extended credits to the government — as the price of remaining in business."

Canadian sales to Cuba, mostly newsprint, total about $18,000,000 a year while Canadian purchases from Cuba total $12,000,000, half the amount being sugar.

Colwood Brothers Crushed To Death Helping Friend

WHERE VICTIMS WERE TRAPPED

Car which brought death to brothers Jack and Tom Cameron of Colwood is late-model sedan seen above, owned by Gerry Van Humbeck of Sooke. They were crushed between rear of car and bumper of tow truck.

Driver Charged After Ramming Into Tow Truck

Two Colwood district brothers were killed early today when crushed between a car and a tow truck while helping a friend whose car had left the road.

Dead are Jack L. Cameron, 32, of 2253 Sooke Road, and Tom Cameron, 35, also of Sooke Road.

The accident occurred at 1.30 a.m. on Sooke Road, immediately east of Dewdney Flats.

According to reports, a tow truck owned by Jack Cameron, proprietor of Colwood Royalite Service, had been used to pull a car owned by Gerry Van Humbeck of Sooke from a ditch.

When it was safely on the pavement the Jack Cameron tow truck and two brothers crouched between the car and the truck to attach a sway plate for safer towing. As they knelt, a car driven west by William John Stewart, Kemp Lake Road, Sooke, crashed into the tow truck and caught the two men between the vehicles. Jack Cameron apparently died instantly. His brother revived long enough to say "How's my brother?" then he too collapsed. Mrs. Dorothy Stewart, 47, passenger in the other car, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Langford ambulance for treatment of head injuries. Her condition was described today as "fairly good."

Stewart was charged by Colwood RCMP with impaired driving, and was scheduled to appear in Colwood police court this afternoon.

Mr. Van Humbeck said today he had been driving to Sooke when he was forced off the road and into a ditch by the bright headlights of an oncoming car.

Jack Cameron was well known in the automotive trade in the Colwood area, while his brother was an independent logging operator and veteran of service with the Canadian Army in the Second World War.

Jack is survived by the widow, Shirley, at home; three children, Terry, 8; Debra, 6; and Russell, 2; three sisters, Mrs. A. O. Ramsfield and Mrs. C. A. Ramsfield, Victoria, and Miss Kay Cameron, Portland, Ore.; and a brother, Harry, in Colwood.

Tom Cameron is survived by the widow, Nora, and four children, Carol, 11; Jody, 10; Mark, 3; and Melana, 3.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sands at Colwood.

WorldWide Gold Boom Collapses

(See also page 12.)

(Times News Services) The swift puncturing of the "gold bubble" that sent the price of bullion soaring to $40.60 in London Thursday and $42 in Toronto had experts puzzling over who profited.

Somebody made a lot of money and somebody lost a lot in the wild scrambling market. The gold fever definitely had subsided in London today as the opening price fell to $36.55, down almost $4 from Thursday's top.

But across the world in Hong Kong, the fever broke out again briefly today sending the price up to U.S. $50.85, before trading was suspended. London reported widespread assumption that U.S. interests operating through Swiss banks were responsible for Thursday's buying.

Stocks in gold mining firms leaped Thursday in British, European and North American security exchanges but today, at least in Canada, they had declined in early trading almost as much as they had gained.

In Johannesburg, South Africa, what was described as "close to mob violence" occurred as brokers scrambled to get in on the gold trading while in France, Finance Minister Baumgartner Thursday warned speculators they were heading for "immense and mortifying setbacks."

CRISIS THREATENED A writer in The Guardian of Manchester warned that the situation which saw gold prices soar to $41 an ounce before dropping back to $37 and $39 threatened the most dangerous currency crisis since the war.

It noted that the U.S., "in spite of the heavy drain of recent years," still has the largest stock of gold in the world.

The U.S. buys gold for $34.9125 and sells it for $35.0875.

The Daily Express claimed much of the demand for gold is coming via Switzerland from the troubled Congo.

WIDE REPERCUSSIONS The Daily Mail said "the main reason for the gold rush is the sudden loss of confidence in the United States dollar" and added that "much of the buying can be traced to American interests."

The increases in the price of gold were biggest in London. But gold markets in Paris, Germany and Italy also reported higher prices and increased business.

DEVALUATION DENIED In Washington, persistent rumors of impending devaluation of the dollar brought this formal denial from the treasury: "The United States will continue its policy of buying gold from and selling gold to foreign governments, central banks and under certain conditions, international institutions, for the settlement of international balances or for other legitimate monetary purposes, at the established rate of $35 per fine troy ounce, exclusive of handling charges."

Pre-Yuletide Session Indicated by John D

THROWN OUT

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker gave a strong indication today that Parliament will meet before Christmas, suggesting at the same time that this may set a pattern for future sessions.

He told reporters that he discussed with top Progressive Conservative leaders meeting here the possibilities of the session beginning before Christmas to ensure that legislative work is completed at an earlier date than it was in the recent past.

He noted that the last session of Parliament began Jan. 14 and ended Aug. 10 and said that the British Parliament had found it more efficient and effective to break up its work into three periods — pre-Christmas, January to Easter, and post-Easter.

He declined to speculate on an opening date when reporters reminded him of speculation that Parliament would meet Nov. 17. But later he remarked that by starting before Christmas it would be possible to clear up the throne speech debate and "those things that ordinarily take a period of four or five weeks."

By following that practice it would be possible to get down to effective work on the legislative program by January.

Mr. Diefenbaker said no date had yet been set. If it was decided to call Parliament before Christmas, it would not be because of unemployment or any other specific matter.

Regarding a fall session becoming a regular pattern in the future, the prime minister said that if the government proceeds with such a course and finds the British experience holds good for this country, "it might well be the basis for the future."

Deputy Appointed OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced the appointment of Rodrigue Bedard, municipal judge for the city of Hull, Que., as associate deputy minister of justice.

Private Firm Would Put Up Own Sputnik WASHINGTON (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Company today asked United States government authority to put up a space satellite as the first station in a proposed international communications system. It said it wished to do this within a year.

This would be the first satellite launched under private auspices, and the first commercial application of satellites.

The project would be financed and operated by American Telephone in co-ordination with telephone administrations abroad.

The company made no immediate estimate of the total costs.

Queen in Denmark COPENHAGEN (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived here by plane tonight for a four-day private vacation as the guests of Denmark's King Frederik and Queen Ingrid.

B.C.'S 'RELUCTANCE' SURPRISES FULTON VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbia River downstream power can be delivered in Vancouver for 3.77 mills a kilowatt, Justice Minister Fulton told a Vancouver newspaper in a telephone interview from Ottawa.

Mr. Fulton, head of Canada's negotiating team with the United States on Columbia development, corrected earlier reports that Columbia power would be four mills delivered to a transmission station at Oliver, in the B.C. interior. Earlier estimates placed cost for the industrialized Lower Mainland of B.C. at 5.5 or six mills.

Mr. Fulton's figure would mean Columbia power would be 46 per cent cheaper than the present average cost of seven mills in Vancouver on power from B.C. Electric Co.

The low cost would be attributable to downstream benefits from added generation in the U.S. through water storage in Canada.

Mr. Fulton also said Ottawa reserves the right to see that Columbia downstream power is used judiciously. If it is surplus to B.C.'s power needs in 1970, he said, it may be left in the United States for adequate compensation.

Seeks Bail VANCOUVER (CP) — C. W. Thornton, found guilty of contempt of court at the same time as a cabinet minister, filed an appeal Thursday and was to appear in court today to apply for bail.

Thornton, of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, received an indefinite jail sentence and Highway Minister Gagliardi of British Columbia was fined $1,000 for wilful contempt of court by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris Thursday. Mr. Gagliardi filed an appeal immediately.

UN REJECTS ULTIMATUM LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Authoritative sources said today the United Nations command has rejected a four-point ultimatum presented Thursday by Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu.

The four demands were listed as:

Withdrawal of U.N. troops from arms depots in the Congolese army camp at Leopoldville.

Free use of arms stored there by Congolese troops.

The right of the Congolese army to use Leopoldville's Ndjili airport for military traffic.

Permission to increase the number of Congolese troops at the airfield.

ELISABETHVILLE (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga Province tonight demanded the immediate recall of the senior United Nations representative in Katanga, as well as part of his military staff.

Tshombe called the official, Ian Berendsen, "totally inefficient." He said Berendsen and his aides are working against the good of Katanga.

"I am deeply convinced it is impossible to work honestly with them," he told a press conference.

Earlier, Berendsen had flown with Katanga representatives to Kabalo, in the northern part of this secessionist province, to investigate charges of "scandalous behavior" by UN Ethiopian troops.

Tshombe charged Thursday that six UN soldiers at Kabalo were caught looting European houses while a UN observer looked on. He also said troops in northern Katanga helped rebel Baluba tribesmen and stood by passively while rebels killed and molested local people.

'Red-Dog' On CBC For Big Game

At least one Victoria football fan is mad enough about the television blackout of Saturday's B.C.-Calgary game to go to the law about it.

Ralph M. Shepherd, 1025 Redfern, thinks an injunction should be taken out, compelling the CBC to telecast the game (on which hinges the playoff hopes of both clubs) in the Vancouver Island and lower mainland areas.

He points out the CBC is a federal utility, supported by the taxpayers of Canada, including those in the areas blacked out Saturday night.

FORCED PLAY

"The CBC is televising the game for the rest of the west," he said today. "It should be compelled to include us in the coverage."

Mr. Shepherd consulted a Vancouver lawyer who said an injunction could be possible, but it is too late to implement it in time for Saturday's game.

"We should keep it in mind for future important games," Mr. Shepherd said.

Duchess Dead, Was Grandmother Of Aqa Khan

LONDON (AP) — The 86-year-old Duchess of Leinster, a vaudeville star of the gay nineties and grandmother of the present Aqa Khan, was found dead in her bath Thursday night.

Her death was believed due to natural causes.

Born Jessie Smith, daughter of a bartender, she made her name in vaudeville as Denise Orme. One of her hit songs was Nobody Ever Marries Me. Actually three men did.

Her first husband was John Yarde-Buller, who became Lord Churston. Her four daughters by that marriage became the wives of Prince Aly Khan, Baron Ebury, Earl Cadogan and the Duke of Bedford.

Theodore Wessel was her second husband, and in 1946 she married the Duke of Leinster, Ireland's premier duke. The duke, 68, survives her.

Automatic Phones For Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Work has started on a two-year program which will see conversion of telephone service here from manual to automatic, and cost $1,467,000.

First step was the letting of a contract this week for construction of a two-story concrete building to house offices and exchange equipment. Contract was let to Hodgson, King & Marble Ltd. of Vancouver on a tender of $277,000.

Long-Shots For Three Victorians

It will be fingers-crossed and rabbit's foot time for three Victorians from now until early next Wednesday morning.

The trio have drawn tickets on horses entered in the Cambridgehire at Newmarket, on which the Irish Sweepstakes is based, and each has a chance at the top prize of $148,000.

All three horses are long-shots.

Holding a ticket on Gramercy Park (66-1) is Hans Myhre, 610 McKenzie, who defied tradition by using his own name instead of a nom de plume. J. A. A. Olivier, 2614 Blanshard, has a ticket on Diference, no odds quoted as yet.

The third ticket is on Tehranita (66-1) held under the name Chu Hong.

Two other local tickets are held on non-starters, meaning a consolation prize of close to $1,000 for William F. Rhind, 3396 Metcalch, and an unidentified holder under the nom de plume "Jimmie."

"Young Fellow" at Comox also holds a ticket on 66-1-shot Tehranita, and has a chance at the top prize or $56,000 for second and $28,000 for third.

WITNESS' BABY SAVED BY HOSPITAL COURT

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — An emergency court set up in an English maternity hospital saved the life of a day-old baby boy.

For 90 minutes the baby hovered near death. Only a complete change of blood could save him.

But the parents, both Jehovah's Witnesses, refused to allow a transfusion because it was against their religious beliefs.

The doctors turned to the law.

County welfare officer Florence Valentine sought legal custody of the baby on the ground that it was in danger of unnecessary suffering.

A doctor testified that if the child did not get the transfusion and lived, it would be a mental defective.

The father—juvenile court rules forbid the publication of his name—still refused permission for the operation.

"My wife and I are dedicated servants of God, and the decisions we are making are on His word," he said. "If we take a course of action which might prolong life now, everlasting life will be cut off."

As the minutes ticked by, the father, a 30-year-old farmer, was asked if he would take the child into his home if the operation was performed.

"Yes, I love the child," he replied.

The magistrate, Lady Rothschild, quickly committed the baby temporarily into the welfare officer's care, and thus allowed her to give permission for the operation.

It is believed to be the first time such action has been taken by a British court.

ALBERTA MAN CLAIMS DISCOVERY

Radiation Shield Found?

EDMONTON (CP)—An Alberta professor Thursday announced discovery of a chemical agent which may protect human beings from the dangers of radiation.

The agent may also have potentials in the fields of nuclear fallout and cancer.

Dr. Jan Weijer, a Friesian professor of genetics at the University of Alberta, who has been seeking the breakthrough for the last three years, said he came up with the calcium-based agent after recent research at the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont.

"At the moment, there is a good, honest hope that we'll be able in future to further develop calcium as a radiation protective to such an extent that some of the fear which now looms over the world can be reduced," the 36-year-old old professor said.

A major significance of this "mobilized" calcium agent is that it is the first agent found which can be used in unlimited quantities in repairing cell damage caused by X-rays. Working with the bread-mould neurospora crassa, he has found that the presence of calcium in the nutrient broth on which this micro-organism is cultivated has a "substantial" effect on the survival rate of the mold after X-ray irradiation.

Higher Court Trial Faces Young Driver

Enough evidence to commit for trial a young Victoria driver for criminal negligence in the death of a 19-year-old pedestrian Oct. 1 has been entered in a preliminary hearing ended in Colwood RCMP court Thursday.

Magistrate William Ostler said he would delay formal commitment of James William Hamilton, 20, until 9.30 a.m. Wednesday.

Gary Samuel Stentafoed, 900 Lavender, died instantly from injury received in collision with a car driven by Hamilton on Goldstream near Spencer at about 8 p.m.

Both his car and one occupied by three other youths, who testified Hamilton's car was trying to pass them at the time, were entered as exhibits.

The speed of the other car was estimated at about 40 miles an hour, court was told.

"There are other factors in addition to speed," Magistrate Ostler said. "The riding up close to the other bumper..." he cited as an example.

"I find there is enough evidence to commit."

WINDUP OF 'GREAT DEBATE'

Nixon to Plug Islands Issue

NEW YORK (CP)—John Kennedy today again appealed to Richard Nixon to join him in a fifth television debate after tonight's encounter but the vice-president kept mum as to what he would do.

In a telegram Kennedy said: "I again strongly urge you to join me in discussing the issues of this election in a fifth debate to be held shortly before the election. Only in this way will the American people be able to evaluate the arguments and issues which are raised in the closing days of the campaign."

Kennedy urged Nixon to make his decision known during tonight's hour-long television encounter. Nixon's camp appeared reluctant because of a feeling that Kennedy projects better on television than does Nixon.

All signs point to a rough battle in the one-hour debate starting at 6 p.m. Victoria time on Channels 6 and 2 and at 10 p.m. on Channels 4, 5, 7, 11 and 12.

Cuba and Quemoy-Matsu are still big issues. In what seemed to be an obvious move to dull the impact of Kennedy's attacks, the Eisenhower administration clamped an embargo on most exports to Cuba, but Kennedy charged this was too little and too late.

He helped the U.S. help Cuban exiled freedom fighters and that all Cuban assets in the U.S.—about $200,000,000 worth—be seized.

NIXON'S ACE
Nixon figures he has an ace in Quemoy-Matsu. Amiral Arthur Radford, former chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, charged Kennedy's position on the two Chinese offshore islands—that they should not be included in the defence of Formosa—would lead to war in the Pacific.

Claiming that many responsible military men agreed with him, Radford said Kennedy had established doubt in the minds of the Reds whether a Democratic president would defend Quemoy-Matsu. This was no more than an invitation to the Reds to seize the islands.

But Radford may have damaged his own argument by indicating the Eisenhower administration had at one time explored the idea of giving the two islands to the Reds in exchange for a guarantee of Formosa's freedom. This apparently the Reds would not do.

If the word of the Communists could not be trusted, how could President Eisenhower be sure they would abide by an

AMERICAN PREJUDICES BLAMED

LONDON (Reuters)—A British naval historian today blamed American prejudices for the failure of the wartime Allies to follow Winston Churchill's plan to liberate Western and Central Europe by "striking at the soft underbelly of the Axis".

Had the Allies followed the Churchill concept of driving up through Italy and into the Balkans, the post-war history of Central and Western Europe "might have been happier," Capt. S. W. Roskill said.

He made his statement in the third book of a four-volume official history entitled "The War at Sea", published today. Factors which played a part in the American attitude, he said, were "anti-imperialism, anti-colonialism, anti-monarchism, and the sheer ancient prejudices of a people taught a myopic interpretation of history."

He also said Americans had been "brought up to believe that they could grow rich in isolation from the rest of the world".

Mr. Diefenbaker's Problem

ALTHOUGH THE MID-SEPTEMBER figure for unemployment in Canada shows a decrease of 25,000 from the unusually large figure of mid-August, the national total is still 102,000 higher than in mid-September a year ago. At 327,000, the total is the highest for any September since the war.

Part of the figure may be accounted for by the new method of estimating. Heretofore the monthly Government statistic has represented the number of persons out of work and looking for work. To this has now been added the further figure of those temporarily laid off. This should give a more accurate picture of the national situation—the method is one recommended by the International Labor Organization and used in the United States and other highly industrialized countries.

It should also, if the Liberals and CCF adopt it for discussion purposes, avoid the controversy which has accompanied Government announcements of unemployment figures. For the Government used the estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as to those out of work and looking for it, while opposition critics have used the total of applicants registered at employment offices—usually a much higher figure.

But regardless of the method of computation, the fact remains that Mr. Diefenbaker is faced with a very large and serious total of unemployment. The slight fall in September still leaves it at 5.1 per cent of the total working force. In September, 1959, in contrast, it was only 3.6 per cent. The problem is intensified by the fact that unemployment is not distributed evenly throughout the country, but exists in concentrated pockets, making it much more serious in the affected localities than even the national percentage suggests.

What will the Government do about this? The country still awaits a plan—something more effective than the recent announcement of public building projects which did not add appreciably to the normal program. Nor does Mr. Diefenbaker's decision to put further restrictions on imports of Japanese goods, and British and European cars, give promise of a better national employment picture. To the extent that such import restrictions must hinder exports of Canadian goods to the countries affected, Canadian jobs will suffer—while Canadians, employed or unemployed, must pay more for their purchases.

Canadians watch the monthly unemployment index with concern. They are casting a similar eye on Mr. Diefenbaker.

'Boulwarism' and General Electric

THIS WEEK WORKERS WENT back to their jobs at General Electric's Schenectady plant—one of several against which the International Union of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) struck at the beginning of the month.

This is one step in partial settlement of the dispute between the union and one of the largest companies in the United States—a company which operates 166 plants in various parts of the country. Only 50 plants are involved.

This is the first strike in 10 years for the company—and one of the most unusual in recent industrial history on this continent.

Picket lines thrown around struck plants have leaked. Management has not been dependent on members of the striking union to maintain operations and the company follows an industrial relations policy called "Boulwarism" that seems to protect it in large measure from the paralysis of a walkout.

The policy calls for year-round close communication with employees, through every possible medium, to present management's views regularly in a bid for employee understanding and loyalty, and association with management.

It calls for constant consideration of employee needs and union interests—and at bargaining time—for management to take the initiative with a "fair" offer for all, one to be placed before the unions and maintained in the face of any pressure.

The effectiveness of the policy is increased by the fact that there is no single all-industry union in General Electric. Various employee groups have their own organizations. There is no union-shop clause in agreements and half the employees, including technicians, supervisors and white-collar workers can be called upon in an emergency to help keep the plants in operation.

Beyond this, the company holds the line on the offers it makes at bargaining time. There is no chopping and changing to reach a compromise on major points.

This is the situation faced by the International Union of Electrical Workers, representing 70,000 employees, in the present dispute. Add to that the fact that inventories are relatively high, that housing starts—involving use of G.E. products—are low and the difficulties confronting the union become apparent.

At Schenectady at least those difficulties apparently were insurmountable. Conceivably the General Electric Company is setting a new pattern in industrial relations—one that rejects the application of automatic escalator wage increases, but tries to pay adequate attention to workers' needs all year.

Another Reminder Needed

THE UNITED STATES' IMPOSITION of a trade embargo on Cuba raises the possibility that the intent of the American move may be circumvented by shipments through Canada. The situation is somewhat similar to that created two years ago when pressure was brought by a United States automobile producer to try to prevent its Canadian subsidiary from shipping cars to Red China.

A Cuban newspaper asserts that Canada will make certain that the U.S. blockade will not become effective, but this is a highly optimistic view on Cuba's part. Canada has no policy that calls for assistance to Cuba in its quarrel with the United States. Nor is it any undertaking to join offi-

On the other hand, however, Canadian sovereignty demands that this country, both officially and otherwise, oppose any attempts at coercion by United States firms. There are reports that American parent companies are exerting pressure on Canadian branch plants to refuse to sell to Cuba. Other reports say that American purchasers of Canadian products are threatening to stop buying if the Canadian producers supply Cuba.

That is a form of economic pressure that must be resisted to the full. Canada cannot tolerate any such interference with its trade, nor with its foreign policy, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Diefenbaker will make this plain to Washington by any means necessary.

Crop Shortage in China

A REPORT FROM RED CHINA quotes informed sources to the effect that this year's harvest may fall from 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 metric tons below the 270,000,000 metric tons claimed as the total for 1959.

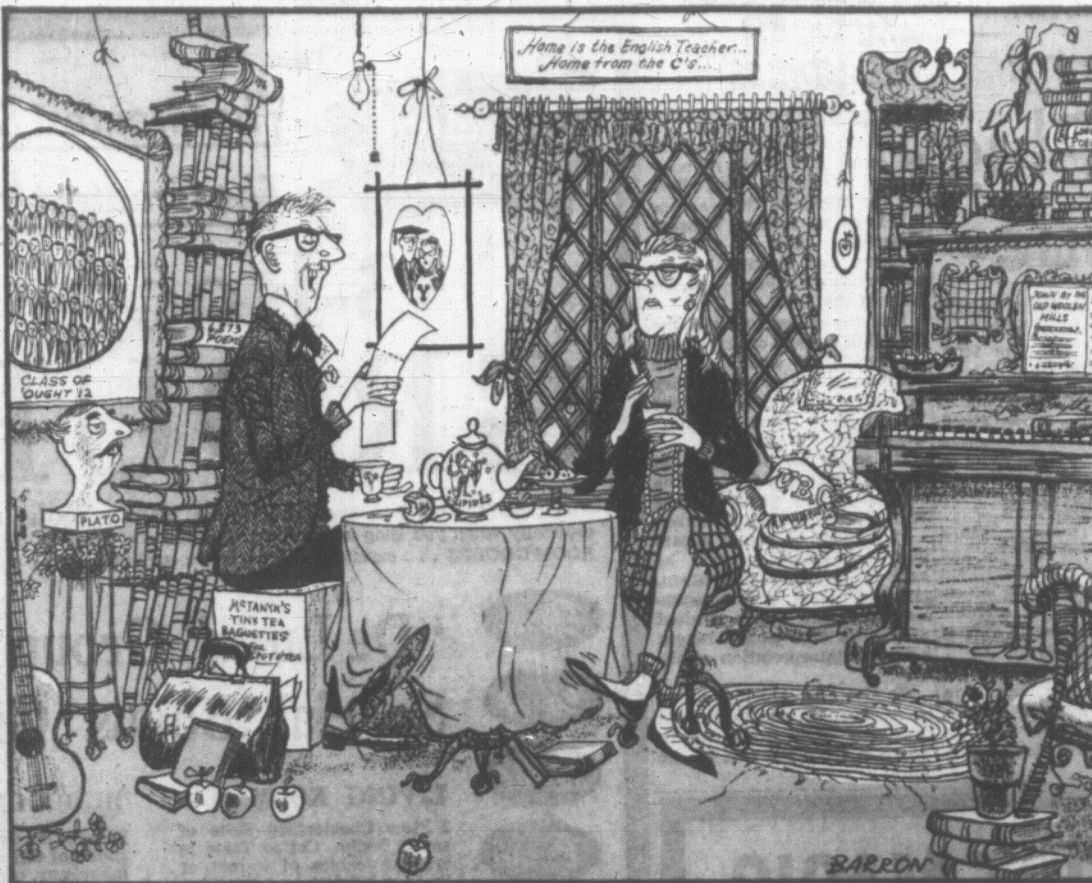

This means hunger for the people in the most populous nation in the world. The estimate of a reduced harvest still leaves the country with a margin of from 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons above the starvation level. But diets will not be rich.

Drought in some areas, floods in others, account for lower yields, the authorities report. The situation is further aggravated by a change in Chinese life. Although 80 per cent of Red China's population is made up of peasants, a growing number is moving to the towns to do industrial work. These people have to be fed, but there are fewer in the fields to produce the food they and the rest of the nation need.

Beyond this the country has devoted an expanding acreage to industrial crops, including cotton, and consequently the food supply that might come from such land is lost. Add to that the fact that exports, 70 per cent of them farm produce or processed from produce, have increased fourfold since 1950.

The resulting situation has not diverted Red China from its campaign to give priority to development of heavy industry. It has, however, brought back into circulation an older Mao Tse-tung slogan: "Agriculture is the foundation of the national economy." And it has led to heightened appeals in the Chinese press for more urban dwellers to turn out to help the farmers so that none of the crops will be wasted.

Economic Aid: Sword or Ploughshare?

By MAX FREEDMAN

AN important statement on foreign aid has now become available with the publication of the lectures delivered at Tufts University by Mr. Eugene Black, president of the World Bank. Mr. Black's statement cuts through many errors which have been put into circulation by both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy in the presidential campaign. It has the additional merit of directing attention to the problems that will face the new administration in meeting the Communist challenge.

Max Freedman

Mr. Black begins by pointing out that economic aid, particularly in the United States, is still talked of primarily as a tactical weapon in the cold war. This is hardly surprising since the existence of Communism as a world force lends urgency to events in the new nations of the underdeveloped world.

Communism makes clear and present the dangers inherent in the historic transformation now taking place as the result of the impact of Western civilization. Certainly Communism provides a motivation which can hardly be ignored.

Tactical Weapon

But the idea of a "tactical weapon" implies the existence of a strategy and Mr. Black has often wondered just where economic aid fits into that strategy. The relationship between economic aid and the security of the Western nations is indeed a direct one; and Mr. Black has suggested that economic aid should be the principal means by which the West maintains its political and economic standing in the underdeveloped world.

This is quite consistent with the West's desire to prevent the spread of Communism, and in the long run such a policy may be the most effective way of encouraging the growth of durable free institutions in the developing countries. But Mr. Black issued a solemn warning that economic aid cannot serve such a function if it is simply regarded as a tactic in some kind of competitive exercise with Communism.

He was afraid that the competition between Communism and the West is being conducted too often these days on the Communists' terms, and this, more than any other single factor, is preventing the full use of a wise and flexible diplomacy.

To try to compete with the Communists on their own terms is to reduce the choices now available to the diplomacy of the Free World to little more than an auction between the great powers in the cold war. Mr. Black suggested that this would prove to be a bad bargain for the West.

Political Interests

As he saw it, there were two questions which faced Western diplomacy. Are the political interests of the West better served by administering economic aid in an effort to outbid the Russians for public favor in the underdeveloped world? Or are they better served by administering aid with the single-minded purpose of providing something which the underdeveloped countries require for more rapid growth?

Mr. Black said that if the West is to use aid primarily to court the favor of the underdeveloped countries and to woo them away from the Communists, it should be recognized that aid can all too easily play into the hands of the Communists. It can all too easily result in channeling resources into un-economic projects and programs, thereby subverting the economics of the underdeveloped countries rather than strengthening them.

The choice should be to contribute something that is really required for economic growth. This may mean that in the propaganda battle the Free World will often have to settle for letting virtue be its own reward; but such a settlement may really serve the security interest of the West.

Thirty Years of Music

This is the thirtieth anniversary of the Victoria Musical Art Society and I would like to inform your many readers of the valuable contribution made by this society to the musical life of Greater Victoria throughout the past thirty years.

The late Mrs. J. O. Cameron, whose name was synonymous with music in Victoria, was the first president and the enthusiasm and zeal which she and the early members displayed, and their vision for the future of the organization, have been an inspiration to all who have worked for it since that time. I think it safe to say that the aims and objects laid down at the beginning have been carried out and at least partly achieved by the devoted men and women who have assumed the responsibility of the organization through the years.

Many outstanding artists have been presented to Victoria audiences, and countless numbers of talented local musicians have been sponsored and encouraged by the society. Hundreds of young people have benefited from the scholarship fund to young students to help them further their musical education and careers, and many of them have won fame in the musical world.

We are appealing to the people of Victoria who are interested in furthering the cause of music in our midst to support our society in this thirtieth anniversary year. It must be realized that the groundwork for a Chair of Music at Victoria University, which has been advocated in the press, is first laid down by the excellent teachers of music in our city and then extended by organizations such as the Musical Art Society. At present we have three very active groups within the society for juniors, intermediates and young adults, whose sole purpose is the encouragement and stimulation of a real love for and interest in music among our young people.

For the senior society a very excellent series of five concerts has been prepared including a chamber opera. The production of opera is a new field for the society and it will utilize some of the wealth of operatic talent in Victoria at this time and implement the suggestion of the vocal scholarship fund set aside for a talented Victoria student in the person of Marlene Vance who is in her final year of professional vocal training at the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto. This fund needs further support at this time.

The board of directors wishes to make this an outstanding year in the life of the Musical Art Society, not only as a tribute to all those who have given so much to the organization throughout the years, but also to strive for new goals in the cause of music in this community.

To do this we need the help of the people of Victoria. I therefore urge you to join the Musical Art Society for your own pleasure and the fact that through your membership you will be helping the society to continue its fine record of service to the cultural life of our city.

THELMA R. JOHNS,
President,
Victoria Musical

OTTAWA:

Kootenay Veto

By TOM GOULD

BEHIND A door covered with sound-dampening green felt, an assorted group of engineers, economists and politicians met to discuss the fate of the Columbia River basin. The place was Ottawa. The time, early spring of this year. One of the British Columbia representatives suddenly blurted out: "B.C. has no intention of constructing or allowing the construction of dams in the East Kootenay Valley."

Gould

A hush fell over the room. Justice Minister Davie Fulton, Canada's senior negotiator, immediately called a recess. The senior U.S. negotiator, Elmer Bennett, wore a puzzled look, while elation shone on the face of Gen. Itchenner, chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

That one sentence almost killed the development of the Columbia River. And it directly led to a Columbia River agreement between Canada and the U.S. that is good, but not necessarily good enough.

The negotiations were secret, but enough information has leaked out of the conference rooms to fill out the picture, to justify the assessment:

This agreement on the Columbia River is a second-best agreement, and the blame can be laid directly on the doorstep of the B.C. Government.

When B.C. announced its determination not to construct dams in the East Kootenays, it was denying itself the cheapest sequence of power development, and literally throwing away somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 kilowatts of power.

Key Project

The East Kootenay dams have not figured greatly in news reports on the Columbia. Their names, Bull River, Dorr, Luxor, are not too familiar. But the same dams have been described by no less an authority than Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, head of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, as "the key to the whole Columbia development."

McNaughton's plan was to use the Bull River-Dorr-Luxor complex to force the flood waters of the Kootenay River north, into the storage basin formed by the Mica Creek dam on the Columbia, to use the water to generate at-site power at Mica Creek and other power generating dams to be built on the Columbia in Canada, and to reap the benefit of its use by U.S. power plants downstream through the collection of downstream benefit power.

There was a secondary need for the East Kootenay storages—flood control.

The Kootenay's spring rampages in the U.S. before it heads north again into B.C. are well known. The U.S. requires protection from this spring flooding, and there are only two ways of obtaining such protection. The East Kootenay dams could provide it, and a dam at Libby, Montana, could provide it. The East Kootenay dams would do the job for a fraction of the cost of Libby.

Libby is an uneconomic project. So much so that the U.S. came into the Columbia River negotiations prepared to forget about it, to give it up, in the face of strong pressure from Montana residents, and from the U.S. Corps of Engineers (who would handle the construction) to have it built.

Secret Confab

In fact, before the B.C. Government made its position known on the East Kootenay dams, the U.S. negotiators, in a highly-secret confab at the Seignior Club—a luxury resort on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River—told Mr. Fulton they were willing to drop all demands for Libby.

Why did B.C. oppose the East Kootenay dams?

The full answer may never be known. The reason tendered, is that they would cause the flooding of a large block of agricultural land—but no precise figures have ever been presented to back up the claim. B.C. also contended the dams would cause transportation difficulties. Ottawa reported: "Put the railroads and highways across the top of the dams."

Premier Bennett's love-affair with Wenner-Gren's Peace River Power Development Co. may have had something to do with it.

How important are the East Kootenay dams? So important that at one point, the federal Government seriously considered calling off the whole deal. Mr. Fulton and his colleagues decided that some measure of agreement was better than no agreement and started to work out what they could from the remains.

Libby Terms

The U.S. reluctance to build Libby can be seen from the terms of the agreement. There is no iron-clad right to build Libby. Instead, the U.S. has a five-year option period. If it starts building the Libby dam in that period, that is the end of the East Kootenay storages for all time.

No quick decision will be made. There are political implications in the U.S. and economic implications.

Libby may be justified as a make-work project in case of an economic recession. A Republican administration could decide to withhold it from a state that has a Democratic voting record.

There is always the possibility the U.S. could publicly ask B.C. to approve the East Kootenay dams as the cheapest way of obtaining flood protection for its citizens.

The possibility is a slim one, and the lines of Columbia development appear to be drawn. The Bennett Government has just been returned to office in B.C. and there is little possibility it will change its mind.

Ottawa takes the view that half a loaf is better than no bread at all.

Prince and Peach

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has been playing host to a foreign visitor who is friendly and polite, didn't barge in without being invited, and doesn't pluck chickens in hotel rooms.

How's that for a change of pace? The name of this unusual guest is Tsugu-No-Miya Akihito, which means "Successor of Enlightened Goodness." He is the Crown Prince of Japan.

If you saw Prince Akihito in a baseball uniform, you might mistake him for a Little League shortstop. But you would never mistake him for one of those leftfielders who descended on New York for the UN meeting.

He is about five-feet-five and every inch a gentleman. As a composer of cigarette commercials might say, Akihito acts good, like a visitor should.

Actually, you wouldn't be likely to see the prince in a baseball uniform anyway. His sport is tennis. In fact, he met his wife at a mixed doubles tournament.

You romanticists might like to think of it as a "love game" but the score was 7-5, 6-3. She won.

I went out to the airport to help welcome the prince when he arrived for his state visit and I couldn't help thinking how much things have changed in the last 100 years, which is not exactly a novel thought.

West

It was a century ago that the United States and Japan opened diplomatic relations. The first Japanese mission came by ship, a voyage which took several weeks and made them all seafick.

Akihito arrived in President Eisenhower's plane. During a stopover in Los Angeles, he visited Disneyland, which ought to have helped make him feel at home here in "dizziland."

Those first Japanese envoys wore colorful Oriental costumes and folks came from miles around to see them. Akihito wore a double-breasted suit which wouldn't look exotic anywhere in this country except maybe on Madison Avenue.

I don't know whether the prince brought along his tennis racket but he did bring along some "shinto weather." In Japan, I'm told, the weather almost always turns clear on the day of a big celebration, and the same thing happened for his arrival here.

Akihito also brought along his 21-year-old wife, Princess Michiko, who was a "commoner" until their tennis court courtship blossomed into matrimony. She was wearing a peach-colored kimono and I hope I'll be excused if I say she looked peachy.

The airport welcoming ceremony was rather noisy, with fanfares, band music, 21-gun salutes and the like. But for a change, the noise was made by the hosts rather than the guests. Long live "Enlightened Goodness."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

London Traffic the Worst

LONDON—As if the endless time spent sitting helpless in London traffic jams wasn't enough to convince one of it, along comes official proof that this country has the highest traffic density in the world.

The British Road Federation has just published its 1960 edition of Basic Road Statistics and we learn that Britain has just over 31 vehicles for each mile of road.

This tops mechanically-minded West Germany by 10 per cent.

And the U.S., world's greatest auto-owners?

There's lots of room on their roads—density of vehicles is 50 per cent higher in this country.

Cause of all the trouble, of course, is the fantastic rate at which new cars are coming onto the roads.

Last year reached an all-time high in vehicle registrations, a total of 1,250,000. That's no fewer than two per minute through the year!

Reyburn

Add motorbikes, bicycles and such along with the cars and trucks and you get a vivid picture of how crowded things are here.

Distribute them all along Britain's highways and byways and there would be some sort of conveyance on the road every 40 yards.

Noted on numerous of these new cars appearing on the streets—a type of number plate that is further evidence of the British desire to follow Americans.

There has never been anything colorful about the British number plate. Always black and white with no vibration in color or design, there is nothing to indicate what part of the UK any particular motorist might come from.

Folks here apparently envy the wide variety of plates according to states in the U.S.—or, for that matter Canadian provinces.

There is no equivalent here of interest in out-of-town number plates that seem far away from home.

Not until now, that is: A firm has just put on the market, at a dollar a time, county plates into which the regulation car numbers can be fitted. Each bears the name and coat-of-arms of your county.

'Meet Challenge' Lumbermen Told

The British Columbia forest industry is either marketing the wrong products or charging too much for them, Forests Minister Ray Williston said Thursday.

He gave a "dressing-down" to representatives of the industry at a Vancouver meeting of the Hoo Hoo Club, composed of lumbermen.

"Pricing ourselves out of the market," he said, "is no excuse—none whatever."

"Rather it is in fact a declaration of inability to meet the challenge of the very free enterprise system with which we all so strongly identify ourselves."

EFFICIENCY

Mr. Williston said the key to the forest industry's woes is marketing efficiency.

The key market is overseas. If necessary, he said, the home market must subsidize overseas markets to keep them stable.

If the industry can't compete in the home market, then "we certainly are in a sorry fix."

Mr. Williston criticized some plants for enormous waste.

"We waste enough material in one small region of the province to maintain two pulp mills at 300 tons a day," he said.

60 PER CENT WASTE

"There are many other such regions all wasting up to 60 per cent of the tree volume in the manufacture of an unimaginative, old-fashioned, marginal forest product."

Mr. Williston said this week is National Forest Products Week, but it should be "Provincial Survival Week." Forty cents of every earned dollar originates in the woods.

Teen-Ager Fined For Having Stolen Purse

Betty Ann Davis, 19, of 1682 Richmond, was fined $35 in Saanich police court Thursday when she pleaded guilty to being in possession of a stolen purse last month.

Court was told a juvenile, who has appeared in family court, took a purse containing several dollars from a washroom at A and W Root Beer stand, 3335 Douglas, where it had been left by a patron.

Investigation showed Mrs. Davis had the purse subsequently, but later threw it into Bowker Creek.

When the owner made inquiry at a car containing juveniles and the accused after missing her purse, occupants of the car denied knowledge of it, court was told.

BEER CAN HOMES OUT

EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP)—Something new in buildings—construction of a home with beer cans—has been rejected under a zoning law. "They were stacking up beer cans and plastering them over with concrete for walls—I couldn't approve that," said county engineer Harmon Turner. He didn't identify the builder or location of the structure.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

You Sure They're Michaelmas?

Is it a Michaelmas daisy or an Aster? A reader would like this question answered to put an end to a long-standing

To the Englishman it is, and probably always will be, a Michaelmas daisy.

Early writers referred to the "daisy that Graceth (the Jack)

Gardens at Michaelmas," and this could have started the common name. In England the flower has long been associated with the Feast of St. Michael or Michael's Mass, which is celebrated Sept. 29.

'A STAR'

The botanical name of the plant is Aster, which in Greek means "a star," and leads us to the second common name of starwort.

"Wort" as an ending to common names of plants comes from the Old English wurt, a root, and was usually applied to plants believed to have certain medicinal properties such as throatwort, birthwort, lungwort, and so forth.

The starworts are one of the native plants of eastern Canada and America where they are known as perennial asters. There are species named Aster Novi-Belgi or the New York Aster, and a Nova-Englæ or the New England Aster, common name of the annual daisy may be used to designate the plant, and the choice will depend on the part of the globe from which the gardener hails.

There is always some confusion between the perennial aster and the annual aster, which is used extensively for summer color. The accepted common name of the annual name is Callistephus (Kal-lis-ter-us or tee-fus). This also is Greek, kallistos meaning "most beautiful" and stephanos, "a crown".

Census Team Going to Arrow Lakes As B.C. Hydro Pushes Early Work

Drilling crews are in the Arrow Lakes and Duncan Lakes damsites of the Columbia River hydro project following up field studies started early this year.

British Columbia Power Commission chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside said Thursday a census team will go into the areas soon to compile lists of residents.

Some will be involved in compensation for land which will be flooded.

British Columbia Hydro is going to build dams on Arrow and Duncan, and at Mica Creek.

SUB-SURFACE

The drilling program, which started September 20, is part of a sub-surface study.

Aerial, land and seismographic surveys were made from the beginning of the year. They provided data for planning footings and foundations.

"No time will be lost in completing the studies," said Dr. Keenleyside.

ACTION

"While the recommendations (of international negotiators) are being submitted for ratification by the Canadian Parliament and the United States Congress, we will proceed as rapidly as possible with the necessary preliminaries," he said.

He said all persons in the dam site areas will be notified when water licence is sought, and details advertised, before public hearings are held.

BAD CHEQUES

14-Month Sentence For Fraud

A Victoria man was sentenced to 14 months in jail Thursday in city police court for false pretences.

Ralph Riley Isaacson, 2635 Rose, was convicted of obtaining goods and cash totalling $800 by means of bad cheques Sept. 6, 7 and 8.

He was convicted on three counts and 14-month sentences were awarded by Magistrate William Ostler to run concurrently.

Isaacson was said to have cashed a cheque for $250 at Kelly Douglas Ltd. obtaining $400 in goods and the balance in cash.

A cheque for a similar amount was cashed at Malkins Ltd. and, two days later, a further cheque for $300 was cashed at this firm.

Evidence showed Isaacson had represented himself as the proprietor of a grill or cafe and told the firms in each case that he was purchasing supplies for the establishment.

The cheques were drawn on Vancouver and Port Alberni banks.

Two other charges for similar offences were withdrawn.

Isaacson was sentenced in Saanich police court Thursday, to 14 months in jail on each of two fraud charges involving Hudson's Bay Co. wholesale division.

The sentences will be served concurrently with each other and with those imposed earlier in city court.

He pleaded guilty to the Saanich charges after electing trial by magistrate.

DOCTORS ASK MEDICAL TRAFFIC DEATH PROBE

REGINA (CP)—Extensive medical research into the causes of highway traffic deaths is favored by the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

A national foundation for such study was urged in a report to the college's annual convention Thursday by Dr. C. H. Andrews of Prince Albert, head of the college's traffic safety division.

Such a foundation would have accidents investigated thoroughly by experts. Engineers would study the highway for defects and others would check the car and try to find out from the driver's service station what the mechanical shape of the car had been. The driver's physical and psychological state also would be probed.

"Then we'd know what the loopholes are in traffic safety and would be able to take measures to plug them," Dr. Andrews said.

IT'S A MYSTERY, SAY B.C. EXPERTS

Who Is Backing Pipeline?

Who is behind the mystery pipeline winding an elusive way across B.C., through the other western provinces, the Yukon and the U.S.?

Such a line would cost a tremendous amount.

In fact, B.C. experts think the whole thing is fantastic. The pipeline first appeared in a series of advertisements in which notice was given that "Aurora Pipeline Company" would apply to Parliament for a private bill of incorporation.

Object of the company, said the ad, is to build "inter-provincial, extra provincial and/or international pipelines" for gas and oil in B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Yukon, Northwest Territories and outside Canada.

NO WORD

B.C. officials haven't heard of the company, and certainly have no applications.

It is not incorporated in B.C. It has not applied to the lands department for any information on sites.

Observers noted, however, that currently under way in Ottawa is discussion of the possibility of an eastern oil pipeline to Quebec markets.

"Aurora," said these observers, could well be a rival, a red herring across the trail, to block construction of what many fear is an uneconomic line to the east.

LETTER VALUED AT $35,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A 94 word letter Abraham Lincoln wrote to Maj. Gen. Joseph Hooker in 1863 was valued at $35,000 Thursday in an estate inventory filed in probate court. The letter, in which Lincoln appointed Hooker commander of the army of the Potomac, is part of an estimated $35,000 estate left by Alfred W. Stern, retired clothing manufacturing executive. Stern died May 3 at age 79.

'GREAT FORWARD STEP' SAYS WASH. GOVERNOR

SEATTLE (AP)—Governor Albert Rosellini hailed the United-States-Canadian agreement on the Columbia River as a "great step forward" Thursday but warned against any slow down in American plans for development of the river.

"We in Washington," the governor said, "wish to make sure that the construction of dams in Canada will not retard projects under way or planned on the Columbia and its tributaries on this side of the border."

FINCH, TREGOFF RETRIAL

'Excusable Homicide' Possible, Says Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch read magazines and his paramour, Carole Tregoff, washed jail dishes as a judge gave their murder trial jury another possible verdict to consider "excusable homicide." Deliberations entered their third day today in the retrial of Finch, 42, and shapely Miss Tregoff, 23, charged with murder and conspiracy in the shooting of the surgeon's wife, Barbara Jean. Finch claims she was shot accidentally as they struggled over a gun. A previous trial ended last March in a jury deadlock.

Superior Judge Leroy Dawson called the 11-woman, one-man jury back to court Thursday afternoon and said: "The court has discovered that no instruction on excusable homicide has been given." He said failure to read the instruction Wednesday, when he instructed the panel of five other points, "was merely an oversight on my part."

'Keep Columbia Power at Home'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Company said Thursday ways and means should be studied to use power from the Columbia River development at home rather than export it.

Dr. Harry Purdy said B.C. industry should be developed fast enough to take up all the power in B.C.

Lands and Forests Minister Williston said Wednesday, after announcement of agreement by the United States and Canada to develop the river, B.C. will almost certainly export power in the initial stages of the multi-million dollar project.

50 PER CENT
B.C. will receive 50 per cent of the downstream benefits resulting from storage facilities built on the river in Canada.

Mr. Williston said it was a matter of selling the power to the U.S. or "giving it away" until such time as all the power could be used in B.C.

Mr. Purdy said the trouble is that power will become available in large blocks with the completion of the Mica and Arrow Lake dams.

"Export of power may be desirable but it would be much more desirable for us to get busy as soon as we can to study every device we can find to assist the industrial development of B.C. that will absorb these blocks as fast as possible."

NOT WHOLE ANSWER
He said the Columbia is not the whole answer to the province's future needs. Even with

Electronic Age Coming For Farmers
Farm incomes of the future can keep pace with other incomes only if the man-hour output in agriculture increases as fast as in other industries, Peter Forward, a lead development officer for B.C. Power Commission, said here Thursday.

He told the Pacific Northwest section, American Society of Agricultural Engineers in convention at the Empress Hotel, that competition for scarce manpower would maintain pressure on farmers to apply more labor-saving devices.

Electrical power will be increasingly used, he said, as electricity is "synonymous" with farm profit.

AUTOMATION
Electricity will be called upon to improve feed and materials handling, to provide more complete lighting, to automate as nearly as possible livestock and poultry farming, to improve quality and unit yields.

There are already signs of the "electronic" age on the farm, Mr. Forward said.

"It is conceivable that infrared lamps could be used to protect crops from frost. Radio control of machines is another possibility in what may be eventual complete automation."

Mr. Forward predicted that it was possible the electronic transition in farming would eclipse the mechanical transition.

SOLUTION MONDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Now that Andy Griffith's become a big TV star, I want to warn those gossip-hungry Hollywood columnists that if they catch his wife Barbara crying when she's out with Andy, they mustn't conclude that the Griffiths are battling and divorcing.

Actually, they'll be having a gay evening. "Barbara cries," drawled the boy from Mt. Airy, N.C., the other day, "when there's a singer singin' that she likes. 'She's a good singer herself.' Andy explained, sippin' some of 'the blend' as he sat around in his palatial suite at the Park Sheraton. "And when the singin's good, she says, 'Oh, it's so beautiful, I can't stand it.' And she cries."

"DON'T PRINT THAT!"—A H'wood star, brought to N.Y. to guest on a TV spectacular, threw back the script indignantly, snapping, "I do only funny lines!" More gags were written in for her. . . . One of the TV glamor gals is causing headaches for the TV execs. She's so fat and insists on her pictures being retouched. Elvis Presley's mgr., Col. AGE-OLD HOLE, BRENT CRATER TO BE STUDIED

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—A team of Canadian scientists hopes to learn more of the secrets of the huge Brent Crater, 75 miles northwest of Pembroke, created by a meteor plunging to earth some 400,000,000 years ago.

Dr. M. J. S. Innes, chief of the gravity study division of the federal mines department, said drilling crews during the next few weeks will attempt to locate more meteoric material in the ancient phenomenon.

Dr. Innes said the crater, which has a diameter of about two miles, ranks as one of the most important geological and astronomical finds in history. A sharp tug of the earth's gravitation inside the crater, discovered in 1951, indicates the presence of shattered rock to a great depth.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hamam Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Marilyn Gaines, age 11; of Visalia, Calif., for her question:

Are There Man-Eating Clams?

No clam in the world has teeth, and a good sized man would need a lot of chewing before he could be digested. So, there are no man-eating clams in the world. There are clams, however, which are a threat to a man's life and limb. These whoppers can drown a swimmer. But they would not be interested in eating him.

This granddaddy of the clams is also the largest of all the shellfish in the world. His shell is several feet wide and he may tip the scales at 400 pounds. Of course, it takes him many years to grow to be this size, but he has plenty of time. It is said that specimens have been found over 100 years old.

The giant clam is called the tridacna and he is a native of tropical seas. His long life is usually spent in the rainbow wonderland of a coral reef. As we all know, a clam is famous for closing his mouth and keeping it closed. When he wants to keep out intruders, the two halves of his shell are clamped together and held tight by a very strong muscle. It is no easy job to pry open the shells of even a little clam, much less a big one.

Mouth Closes for Keeps

When the monster tridacna decides to close his mouth, not all the king's horses could pry them open again.

It is this closed-mouth trick which gives the tridacna his bad reputation. For it a swimmer, perhaps a pearl diver, should touch the mighty shells by accident, they might very well clamp shut on his foot or leg. Nothing is going to persuade that clam to let go. The unlucky diver is trapped down there in the water until his friends come to help him. They will have to use surgery to free him. A long sharp knife is plunged betw the shells of the clam and the powerful muscle which operates the two shells is cut. This is fatal to the big clam, but the diver is freed, we hope in time. The shells of the big clam may then be taken up and polished to make a pair of lovely white planters or lamp fixtures.

'I WOULD HAVE DROWNED FOR SURE'

Non-Swimming Skipper, Boat Saved by Quick-Thinking Pair

CHEMAINUS—Fast action by two fishermen Thursday morning prevented a fishing boat from sinking in deep water and saved the life of its owner, a non-swimmer.

Nicholas Cook, Westholme, woke up at 6 a.m. at a mooring near Kuper Island to find his boat awash and near sinking. He started to bail and called his partner, Bruce Sampson, of Salt Spring Island, for help.

BEACHED
Sampson and the unidentified skipper of a Japanese fishing boat put lines on the sinking craft and beached it on Kuper Island. It was found a stuffing box cover had worked loose to let water into the

Duncan Chamber 'Way Off Base' On Paving Claim
COBBLE HILL — Duncan Cowichan Chamber of Commerce is way off base in claiming Cherry Point Road has been hard-surfaced for a second time and is a little-used secondary road, according to residents of that area.

Spokesman George Bonner, president of the V.I. Ratepayers Associations, said today the road recently was hard-surfaced alright.

"But for the first time. And its a well used road and a much older one than the Lake Cowichan Road the chamber is always talking about. I might point out our ratepayers group has also been seeking improvements to the latter.

Damage was estimated at $1,000, mainly to electrical instruments and other gear.

STAYED ABOARD

Cook said he stayed with his boat to the last, then jumped to Sampson's craft.

"If Bruce hadn't been there I would have drowned for sure, 'cause I can't swim," he said.

Test Facilities Hit by Farmers

DUNCAN — Cowichan Agricultural Society will make an urgent appeal for improved facilities for testing forage crops and soil samples.

At a meeting of the society here it was claimed that the whole of the Cowichan district could get only 15 forage samples analyzed last year because of poor facilities for testing.

A resolution covering the appeal will be contained in a resolution to go before the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture in Victoria, Nov. 22-23.

The society will call on the federation to have the minister of agriculture appoint more full-time staff to 4-H work in order to release the district agriculturalist for general work of farmers, and will ask for more effective means of controlling dogs in unorganized territories.

New directors on the CAS board are William Wohlers, Maple Bay, and William Anderson, Somenos. They replace Alan Stewart and Eric Hodgson, who resigned.

POLIO FOUNDATION

$1,000 Fast Start Given Health Centre

DUNCAN—The Duncan Kinsmen Club's campaign to raise funds for construction of a new $45,000 community health centre got off to a fast start Thursday with a cheque for $1,000 from the B.C. Child Care and Polio Foundation.

Ken Brownsey, local area representative for the foundation, presented the cheque to club project chairman Robert Howard.

The new health centre, which will serve Duncan and the surrounding North Cowichan Municipality, will cost between $45,000 and $50,000 of which the club must raise around $19,000. Provincial and federal grants totalling $26,000 have already been assured.

The club plans a number of special events to raise money for the project and will also solicit the support of Duncan and district organizations and service groups.

Power Squadron Night Classes Thursday Nights

(From Duncan Bureau)
Night school classes for budding sailors are being conducted again this year by Cowichan Power Squadron.

Two separate courses are available—a junior piloting course for beginners and an advanced course in seamanship.

Registration for the two courses now totals 28 but further applications will be accepted. Classes are being held each Thursday night at Cowichan High School. John Grieve, CPS educational officer, is instructor for the piloting course, while George Paton, vice-commander, is in charge of the course in seamanship.

'SOMEBODY LOVES US' CRY SCHOOL TRUSTEES

DUNCAN—A somewhat startled Cowichan District 65 School Board this week acknowledged a letter from Mrs. Marguerite Higgins which praised the board for being capable and for having a sense of humor.

She wrote that the latter is a "valuable asset while handling humdrum business."

Said Trustee Mrs. V. W. Tarlton: "That should be framed. In fact, I think I'll provide a frame."

COMOX BASE VISIT SET FOR CADETS

About 175 officer cadets of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, will take part in the military college's annual "Military Day" program Monday.

First-year cadets will visit establishments of their own service, and second-year cadets will see services other than their own.

RCAP officer cadets will travel by bus to the air force station at Comox. They will leave Royal Roads early Sunday afternoon, remain overnight at the RCAF station, spend all day Monday there and return to the college that evening.

Naval officer cadets will join the frigates HMCS Jonquiere and Stettler at the Esquimalt naval base at 7:50 a.m. Monday and go on a cruise to Comox. There they will embark in buses for the return trip to Royal Roads that evening.

Army officer cadets will visit the PCLC at Work Point Barracks, arriving there at 9 a.m. and returning Monday evening.

NANAIMO MERCHANTS TO MEET

'Shopping Safari' Planned

NANAIMO — Merchants here are banding together to institute a "Christmas Shopping Safari" for the week of Dec. 19.

Idea is to increase Christmas business by attracting not only local dollars but also shoppers from outside the normal shopping area. This would include Parksville, Qualicum, Ladysmith and Chemainus.

Merchants will meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Eagles Hall to further discuss the project.

Suggestions to attract more shoppers advanced so far include animated window displays, Christmas music played over a public address system, choral singing, a "lucky shopper" trip and other innovations.

NANAIMO — A $440,000 school building bylaw has been prepared by District 68 School Board, and will be presented to ratepayers in December.

It will cover work to be done over the next three years, and will include a nine-room addition to Nanaimo Senior High School.

NANAIMO — Nine boys have escaped from Brannan Lake Industrial School since Tuesday.

Two were missing Tuesday morning, six more the same night, and one disappeared Wednesday. A plywood boat and 5½-horsepower outboard reported missing Wednesday.

Rote, Not Float Worries Riders

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders chief worry right now is not a float but Rote.

Players said they were more concerned about Toronto Argonauts and their quarterback, Tobin Rote, who plays here Saturday against Riders.

A model of Ottawa's Grey Cup float was sent back to its Vancouver designer Wednesday for alterations.

The designer, Herb Chailier, said it wasn't easy to design a float for less than $2,000.

"I'm not worried about a float in Vancouver," said line-man Kaye Vaughan. "I'm worried about getting there myself."

"I don't care if the float is good or bad," said line-man

No Longer Fun To Play Games

LONDON (CP) — Mary Bignal has announced her retirement from international athletics at the age of 20 because it isn't fun any more.

The announcement came two days after Britain's foremost woman athlete beat the world record-holder in the broad jump and was barely edged by the holder of the world mark in the 80-metre hurdles in a track meet at East Berlin.

Miss Bignal, ranked by some observers as the prettiest competitor in the Olympic Games last month, was not among the most successful, failing to reach the finals in the broad jump and finishing fourth in the hurdles.

Penalty Mark Falls In Wild Puck Melee

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — A wild stick and fist swinging donnybrook erupted in the first period of Thursday's Eastern professional hockey league contest between the Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

One player was carried off the ice on a stretcher, and a single period of hockey was set — a grand total of 118 minutes.

The old record was 76, marked up in Hull, Dec. 10, 1959, in a game between Hull-Ottawa and Montreal.

The injured player, Cliff Pennington of Hull, suffered six stitches and a concussion in a fight with Bob Wilson of the Thunderbirds. Wilson out-knocked the Canadiens centre to the ice and then battered him with his fists. Pennington was treated in the arena hospital and was reported in good condition.

It all started at 15:50 of the first period when Freddie Hills of the Thunderbirds and Gilles Tremblay of Hull-Ottawa got into a high-sticking duel.

Hills streamed onto the ice, clearing the benches, and the brawl was on. It was 20 minutes before officials and police finally cleared the ice of combatants.

A total of six fighting majors, three to each team, eight misconducts, five to Sault and three to Hull, and four minors, three to Sault and one to Hull, were meted out.

'The Major' Lone Homebrew In Gallop for Toronto Purse

TORONTO (CP) — The 22nd annual running of the Canadian Championship Stakes, a $60,000-added event that is fast gaining a reputation as providing a rich pay day for American owners, will be held at suburban New Woodbine track Saturday. As usual, U.S.-owned horses dominate the field.

About the only distinctive Canadian theme about the mile-and-furlong race over a grass course is the purse, which will be in the neighborhood of $10,000 Canadian currency to the winning owner.

Fourteen horses may start and of that bunch eight belong to American and only one is Canadian-bred.

The lone homebrew, a five-year-old gelding named Major Turley, is owned by F. M. Clark Jr. of Meadow Lake, Sask. He was bred in British Columbia and bought last year from his breeder, Don Carley of Victoria.

The others are of American, Irish, British and French ancestry. This has been the story since 1956 when the Jockey Club took it over and made the autumn classic the second richest in Canadian racing. It is topped in Canada only by the Queen's Plate.

WRITERS DECIDE TED MADE BEST COMEBACK

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams, who bowed out of baseball this season after an illustrious career, had another accolade added to his imposing list today. He was named the American League comeback player of the year for 1960.

Williams, 42, was a decisive choice in the annual Associated Press poll of baseball writers. The Boston Red Sox outfielder received 96 of the 182 ballots cast. Runner-up was Roy Sievers of Chicago White Sox with 34 votes.

Beset by shoulder and neck pains, Williams' average plummeted to .254 last year. He had only 272 official at-bats and produced just 10 home runs.

Numerous ailments also sidelined him in 1960 but Williams batted .316 and hit 29 homers in 130 official trips.

Guelph Curling Bid

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Curling Association has agreed to support a bid by Guelph for the Canadian schoolboy championship in 1963. It already is supporting Kitchener's bid for the Canadian men's championship in 1962.

Still smarting from Thursday's 14-6 defeat at the hands of Royal Roads in a Victoria Rugby Union match, Victoria College "A" squad will try to even things up Saturday by beating Oak Bay Reds.

Up to Thursday's game College and Reds were the only unbeaten teams in the league.

It was a strictly two-man duel in the game as Wayne Hutchison scored all the Cadet points and Jack Wenman kicked two penalty goals for College.

Hutchison scored a try, converted it, and booted three penalty goals for the 14 points.

EXHIBITION MATCH

In an exhibition match the same day Victoria College "B" squad shut out a Royal Roads second team 14-0.

The College-Reds game Saturday will be at Gordon Head campus. The same day Oak Bay Whites tackle JBAA at Windsor Park, and College "B" goes to Naden for a match with HMCS Venture.

Shades of Last Season As Stamps, Leos Clash

Cowboys Slight Favorites To Nail Down Playoff Spot

VANCOUVER — Just about a year ago Calgary Stampede dropped into Empire Stadium for an important football game with British Columbia Lions.

The cowboys lost, 10-8, in one of the finest games seen in Vancouver all season and Lions broke a third-place tie to go into the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs for the first time since they came into the league in 1954.

Stampede finished fourth, out of the post-season money.

The scene is recalled this weekend as the Stampede, riding a three-game winning streak as they were at the same time last season, visit Empire Stadium again for another game that can determine the third and last playoff spot.

A FEW EXCEPTIONS

There are enough exceptions from last year's setting, however, to make the high-riding cowboys slight favorites.

Last October the clubs were tied in points with 16 each and Lions had won the last two out of three games with Stampede before their scheduled clash.

This time Stampede hold a two-point margin with five wins, eight losses and a pair of ties for 12 points—Lions are 4-2 for 10—and the clubs are even in three games with a win and loss apiece and one tie. Calgary won in their last meeting.

HOME FREE WITH WIN

Stampede, playing their last game in the 16-game schedule, will be home free if they win. Their present two-point margin, plus a better standing in the scoring record, means Lions must not only defeat them Saturday, but win against Saskatchewan Roughriders in Vancouver a week later to assure a playoff spot.

The situation has brought predictions of a Canadian record league-game crowd of more than the 34,372 who attended a Lions-Edmonton Eskimo game here last year and it's almost certain to be larger than the 31,222 who turned out for the Calgary-B.C. game last Oct. 24.

Two hours earlier, Edmonton Eskimos and Saskatchewan Roughriders will meet in Regina in a game that means nothing to the second-place Eskimos or the last-place Riders as teams, but may help settle the individual scoring and rushing titles.

BOTH TEAMS FIT

Physically, both teams in the Stampede encounter are fit. Stampede reporting substitute quarterback Gerry Doucette as the only one ailing.

He has a slight ankle sprain but will be playing Saturday.

"We'll be in pretty good shape for game time," said B.C. coach Wayne Robinson, adding that end Frank Gilliam will replace John Lands, out with a knee injury, and full-back Nub Beamer will return after missing one game with an injury.

Mentally — that's another question.

General manager Jim Finks of the Stampede, referring to the Canadian final scheduled in Vancouver Nov. 26, said: "They've got the Grey Cup fever out there early. It's a psychological piece which does not do us any good."

FACING COUGARS Saturday night at Memorial Arena will be former National Hockey League goaltender Harry Lumley, who is now guarding nets for Winnipeg Warriors. Currently sharing first place in Western Hockey League, Warriors will be trying to end Victoria's home-ice win skein at two games.

Extra Senior In Senior Loop

Ain't Cricket!

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Two Okanagan Senior Hockey League teams have protested that Vernon Canadians are using too many senior players.

Kamloops Chiefs protested a 10-3 loss at the hands of Vernon to league president Bob Gilhooly. Penticton Vs also protested.

Kamloops coach Willie Schmidt said the Canadians used 13 seniors and two juniors in the game while league regulations permit 12 seniors and three juniors.

If the protests are allowed, Vernon could have all its games to date marked as losses.

Norton's Grid Career Starts In Milwaukee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Wilson, one of the great pass catchers in the history of the National Football League, is quitting as an end for San Francisco 49ers to become an end coach.

In his place against the Green Bay Packers next Sunday at Milwaukee will be Ray Norton who has run the 100-yard dash in the former world record time of 9.3 seconds.

Tight Race for Lead In City Soccer Loop

It's a tight race for first place in the Victoria and District Football League and it should stay that way this weekend.

Three teams are tied for top spot and Evcoes are only one game behind.

Canadian Scottish and Saanich Thistles each boast 30 records and both squads play action Sunday. Thistles play Gorge Hotel at 2:30 p.m. and Saanich tackle Heaneys at Central Park.

Victoria West with a 3-1 record, may need to win its game with Gorge Hotel at Reynolds Road Park.

Topaz Park Sunday to stay with the leaders.

Trailing the top trio with two victories in three starts, Evcoes may have one of the toughest tasks of the weekend.

In the lone league match Saturday, Evcoes tackle Brodie's Bakery at Royal Athletic Park and the Bakers will be trying to improve their 0-3 record for the season.

Brodie's were last year's McGavin Cup winners but have games this season while yielding 12 goals to the opposition.

In the fourth game Sunday, Kickers meet Esquimalt at Reynolds Road Park.

BRUINS BLANKED

Brawlers Keep Boxes Loaded

By The Canadian Press

Penalty boxes around the National Hockey League are being crowded these days and official statisticians are being kept busy compiling penalty records of the league's so-called "bad men."

In the Boston-Detroit game Thursday night which Red Wings won 5-0, referee John Ashley and the linesmen had their hands full when a wild-swinging melee broke out in the second period.

When gloves and hockey sticks were sorted out, six major penalties were called, three against each team.

Boston's Fernie Flaman, Vic Stasiuk, Bronco Horvath and Detroit's John McKenzie, Norm Ullman and Gerry Odrowski all received major penalties and were banished to the penalty box at the same time.

The battle was the hottest fight seen in Detroit's Olympia stadium in many years.

WINGS NOW THIRD

Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio, Murray Oliver, Gerry Melnyk and John McKenzie scored for the Wings, who moved into third place with seven points, three less than the league-leading Montreal Canadiens.

Howe, who also picked up an assist, and linemate Norm Ullman who also assisted on a goal, moved into a four-way tie for second place in the scoring race with Canadiens' Bernie Geoffrion and Henri Richard. All have 10 points.

Wednesday, New York Rangers and Chicago's Reggie Fleming starred in another donnybrook that saw Fleming, a first-year man in the league, break a long-standing penalty record set by Ted Lindsay in 1952.

In all, eight majors, one misconduct, one game misconduct and a minor penalty were called against Fleming and Rangers Dean Prentice, John Hanna and Eddie Shack.

The big fight took place in the third period, after Fleming and Prentice had paired off—and received majors—in the early minutes of the second period.

SUDDEN CHANGE

In one step, Fleming—who had no penalties before the game—took the league lead with 37 minutes, surpassing by seven minutes the one-game record of 30 set by Lindsay.

During the game, 88 minutes in penalties were called against both teams. These included 14 minors, eight majors, one misconduct and one game misconduct.

NOT A RECORD

However, these figures were not near the records set by Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens on December 9, 1953, in Toronto.

On that night, referee Frank Udvari called 36 penalties—a record—including 17 minors, four majors, and 15 misconducts (another record)—for a total of 204 minutes (also a record).

Ace at Cedar Hill

First hole-in-one of his life was scored by Eugene Shephard, 945 Esquimalt, Thursday. He used a seven iron on the 115-yard 11th hole at Cedar Hill Golf Club while playing with Jack Hill.

Ralph Kept Hoping

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI)

The husky, square-shouldered man appeared to be bantering but there was a grim note in the undertones of his voice.

"In my outfit," said Ralph Houk, "all you had to do was stay alive and you might become a general."

He was talking about the bloody World War II days when he rose from private to major in the Rangers.

Ralph Houk stayed alive through such storied spots as Omaha Beach, the defense of the Remagen Bridge and the Battle of the Bulge. Wounded by shrapnel, he received the Purple Heart and the Silver and Bronze Stars.

Yet, in a way, he might have been speaking about how he became manager of the Yankees at 41, succeeding the fired Casey Stengel. In the Yankee outfit he "stayed alive" and had gone on to become the field general.

PROVED WORTH

"Managing the Yankees has been a job of mine for a long time," he admits openly. "I've had opportunities to manage other big league clubs but I knew that some day Casey would have to retire and I kept hoping I'd get this job."

This son of a Kansas farmer is a quiet man with a bulldog look and he did his share of behind-the-lines work in the war. But there was no infiltration here. Sure, he proved his worth as manager of the Yankees' Denver farm club and as a full-time coach since 1958. But he never sold his boss short.

MADE CHANGES

This past season, when Stengel was ill, Houk managed the club for ten days and compiled a .636 record. There were those who breathed a sigh of relief when Stengel returned and the club went on a big winning streak to finally clinch the pennant. But those close to the club feel it was changes which Houk instituted which prepared the way for the winning drive. Yet he takes no credit.

"Everything I did I cleared with Casey," he said, punctuating his remarks with jabs of a big cigar. "It was his ball club."

Still it is only human that Houk wanted to run a club of his own, preferably the Yankees.

"There was a possibility two years ago and I could have had a manager's job last year," he explained. "But I waited. Still, I don't think any urgency to keep me in the organization was the reason why Stengel was forced out."

Stengel inferred, after being fired, that he had refused even a remote possibility of remaining because the Yankees intended to run the ball club from the front office.

NOT A "YES MAN"

"Take it from me," Houk bit off. "I'm no 'yes man.' I'm going to run this ball club on the field. Nobody else."

You can believe it. And also that the players will be solidly behind the "major." They have a tremendous respect for him and, as one said, "he's not the kind of a guy you fool with."

Houk knows the game and he has a reputation for acting with lightning rapidity. He is, after all, a man who made quick decisions under fire and there is no reason to believe that baseball could strip him of that ability.

EIGHT-ENDER FOR CHAMPS

REGINA (CP)—Ernie Richardson, who skipped his rink to Canadian and international curling championships the last two years, recorded a personal Curling in the Wheat City Club's Harvest bonspiel, the Richardsons—skip Ernie, third Arnold, second Garnet and lead Wes—scored their first eight-ender ever.

Richardson is unbeaten in the 'spiel.

BILL WAS TOP TIGER FOR LESS THAN YEAR

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Dewitt's turbulent reign of less than one year as Detroit Tigers' $50,000-a-year president ended Thursday with his resignation under fire.

Dewitt, who had two years left on a three-year contract signed last Nov. 1, was being criticized in recent weeks by some Tigers owners and his departure was expected.

John E. Fetzer, a Kalamazoo, Mich., radio-television executive, replaced Dewitt and became the fourth Tigers president since 1956. Fetzer purchased control of the Tigers last week.

Dewitt, in resigning with an "amicable settlement" turned down Fetzer's offer to become assistant to the president.

Drakes Will Oblige With Earlier Start

You can't say the Victoria Drakes aren't obliging athletes.

They're changing the starting time of their Pacific Coast

TIME OUT! BY JEFF KEAT

"Of course you've never seen such tackling... first guy to smash it open gets the daily bonus stuffed inside!"

Intermediate Football Conference game Saturday with Surrey Rams in order to accommodate Victoria fans who are also planning to take in the crucial Western Interprovincial Union game at Empire Stadium that evening.

Normally, the Drake home games start at 2:30. Saturday's contest at Macdonald Park, however, will get underway at 1:45.

That will give fans—as well as the Surrey team—plenty of time to catch the 5 p.m. ferry to the mainland.

IMPORTANT CLASH

B.C. Lions and Calgary Stampeders lock horns in the vital WFLU game. For Drakes, Saturday's tussle will also be an important fust, with a victory over Surrey assuring Victoria of a first-place finish in the intermediate league.

Victory would also allow Drakes to act as hosts for the league's sudden-death final Oct. 29 against Vancouver Grizzlies.

No Lack of Action For Minor Boot Fans

Saturday is the big day for the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association.

Out of 24 games scheduled this weekend for the young booters only four will be played Sunday.

Weekend schedule:

SATURDAY
1 p.m.—Division Three, Equinall Lions vs. Macdonald, Victoria West Park; Hampton Eagles vs. Sidney, Hampton Park; Oak Bay Optimists vs. Legion PE St. Carmichael Park.

2 p.m.—Division Four, Equinall Legion vs. Windsor, Bullen Park; Evening Optimists vs. Majestic Eagles, Victoria High School; Post Office vs. Williams, Topaz Park.

3 p.m.—Division Five, Langford Lions vs. Victoria Optimists, Langford Park; Gyros vs. Equinall Athletic Club, Windsor Park; Seaside Eagles vs. Sidney, Reynolds Park; Evening Optimists vs. Langford Lions, Heywood Avenue Park.

3:30 p.m.—Division Six, Heywood vs. Wrights, Heywood Park; Evening Optimists vs. Britannia Legion, Central Junior High School; Bullen vs. Oak Bay Optimists, Bullen Park; Majestic Royals vs. Equinall Legion, Majestic Park; Hampton Gorge vs. ANAF Vets, Hampton Park.

10:30 a.m.—Division Seven, Beacon Hill vs. Royal Gorge, Beacon Hill Park.

Mount View Loses

Two goals by Bob Moysey and a single by Bill Wilcox gave Oak Bay High School juniors a 3-2 win over Mount View in a soccer match Thursday.

Battle of Sexes

The men will play the women in an annual contest Saturday at Royal Colwood Golf Club. First foursome will tee-off at 10:45 a.m.

Postal Tourney For Chess Gang

Former champion Eric Cox and five other Victoria players are ready to bid for the B.C. Correspondence Chess Club championship.

Other city entrants in the 14th annual tournament are Bob Berg, Fred Hambley, Stan Baker, Stan Turner and Frank Hamilton.

Entries may still be submitted by writing tournament director Jack Tanner, Dewdney, B.C.

Mounties Nearing End Of Coast League Road?

VANCOUVER (CP)—

Pacific Coast League President Dewey Soriano has told Vancouver Mounties to provide proof of financial responsibility by Nov. 15 or drop out of baseball, a Mounties spokesman said Thursday.

Directors of the Mounties said Wednesday there is no chance of selling their baseball club to Milwaukee Braves of the National League.

The club can now refinance or fold. Mounties' president Nat Bailey expects to put together alternatives to a public meeting next week. He met with directors Wednesday and they found themselves on the last length of a dead-end road.

"We cannot find another alternative," Bailey said. "If anybody has another suggestion, we wish he'd phone the ball park."

To refinance, the club would need a new sale of shares or a public subscription to handle the current debt of $72,000 and the high price tag for operating a baseball team in the PCL for a year.

To fold, it would mean a declaration of bankruptcy. Then the franchise would go back to the league. If debts were unpaid, PCL baseball would be outlawed in Vancouver for two years.

Mounties had an offer of $50,000 from the Braves, but directors sought a better offer in order to cancel all debts. The club has signed a working agreement with Milwaukee, but this would not affect the debt situation.

Les Won't Be Firing For Royals in Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—Les

Fabri, high-scoring winger of the Westminster Royals soccer squad, has been suspended indefinitely in a combined action by the Canadian Soccer Football Association and the United States Football Association.

He will be unable to assist Royals in their Dominion Cup final Sunday against Toronto Golden Mile for the Canadian soccer championship. The game will be played in Empire Stadium.

Fabri, Royals' top scorer last season and a member of the British Columbia all-star team which defeated the touring Leningrad Zenits here in June, declined to sign again for Royals when the current season began here four weeks ago.

Instead he and fellow Hungarian Mike Kuczi of the Columbus team went to Seattle to play for Seattle Hungarians.

The Washington State Football Association immediately protested to the USFA, which relayed the protest to the Canadian Association.

Similar action is expected

HOW WOULD YOU CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM?

The CARAT WEIGHT of these two diamonds is the same. Neither has visible imperfections... yet the actual value differs widely in each gem.

The degree of CLARITY is one of the qualities which determines the worth of any diamond. There are more than a dozen categories of perfection which separate the flawless, "perfect" diamond from the stone with inclusions—even if these are invisible to the naked eye.

CUTTING—its accuracy and style—controls the brilliance of a stone and greatly affects its value.

The traditional COLOUR of a diamond is called white, or blue-white. Tinges of brown or yellow, which deviate from this standard, decrease the worth of a stone.

We invite you to come in and see how these qualities vary among the different gems in our collection. This knowledge and the established reputation of your jeweller are the best guarantees of real diamond value.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Golden Halloween Pumpkins Good 'Buy' at This Price

By PENNY SAVER

Small children are almost bound to want to go along with Mum when she goes shopping next time so that they can pressure her into buying the very biggest "pumpkin" there is! After all, Halloween is excitingly close.

There are giants of pumpkins in one, downtown store, all selling at four cents a pound or less, depending on size. At this price they're bound to sell fast, so don't put off shopping too long.

If you're planning a party for the children or having a few friends in to celebrate, centre your table with an arrangement of the many fruits that are in abundant supply.

Glorious show of color can be had by using Macintosh apples priced at five for 25 cents; Delicious apples, six for 35 cents, and locally-grown pears that are being practically given away at 25 cents for three pounds. Add to these some large black Ribier grapes, priced at two pounds for 49 cents, and, for contrast, reddish Tokay grapes that sell at 39 cents for two pounds, and you'll have color unlimited!

For a children's Halloween party you can't go wrong if you get popcorn to give to your young guests. They love it, especially when you include some of the different varieties that are selling downtown. These include black licorice, green-tinted peppermint, coconut, colorful raspberry and a mix that has almost all the colors of the rainbow. All sell at 35 cents for half a pound. Same store has a "special" on that enables you to buy a huge bag of hot, buttered popcorn and 24 smaller bags for 50 cents, so that you can prepare handouts for your small callers.

For those that prefer a tangy zip to their popcorn get some of the cheese type that sells in bags, priced at 10 cents, 15 cents, 25 cents and 50 cents.

Little hobgoblins and flaxen-haired witches will jump with joy when you fill their "trick or treat" bag with some of the candies from bags being specially prepared by another downtown store. In the assortment are fruit drops, toffees, jelly beans, miniature candy canes, popcicles and gum. Large bag sell at 98 cents.

Bags containing 100 popcicles sell at 98 cents, while others containing 50 are priced at 49 cents. Popular chiclets are a good buy at 98 cents for 100.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Sometimes I feel so line now. The age at which skinny, especially when I am young women develop curves with my friends. They are shorter than I, I am 5 feet 9 inches tall and weigh 125 pounds. Do you think that I should add more pounds? If so, how? I am 16 years old. My measurements are, bust 32 inches, waist 26 and hips 36. Should I start exercises for bust development? There are advantages to being tall and disadvantages."

A. You should gain some weight, about 10 pounds any way. I do not know what your usual habits are, whether or not you eat correctly and get enough sleep. If you sleep and eat as you should, then add little extra in-between-meal snacks (lucky you) the kind which are healthful and also add to your calorie intake. You can afford a chocolate milk shake before going to sleep. You can add some cream to the milk you drink. Cheese and crackers and fresh fruit make a fine extra meal. Don't worry about the bust.

A. Eat three meals a day but for a while cut out high-calorie items such as candy bars, chocolate malts and sundaes. Instead substitute an orange or an apple. These may sound like poor substitutes, but it will pay off in health and with a loss of weight. Leave off desserts for a while and instead eat fresh fruit or water-packed, canned fruit. Do not take second helpings. If this doesn't do the job then see your family physician and ask for his help.

DEAR ABBY

No Can Do, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a refined lady in my early forties. I neither smoke nor drink, have a good job and money saved. My problem is a man I have been dating for four years. He has a home, a good job, a wife and five children. He promised over two years ago he would leave his wife and marry me, but he hasn't done anything about it. I have learned that he isn't the boarder at home he said he was and he spends more time and money on his family than he claimed. Should I risk losing my job and self-respect and wait for this man? Or should I start looking for one who is free?

JANE DOE

DEAR JANE: A man who'd cheat on his wife would lie to his girl friend. And if your friend should finally marry you, what would you have? A married man who cheats on his wife. Would you ever be able to trust him?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is 17, says that when her boy friends bring her home, the parents should be in bed.

When they came in last night at 11:00 I was busy in the kitchen making cookies for the next day. She acted like I had no business there. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR IN: If your 17-year-old daughter can tell you where you should be—and get away with it—you have my sympathy. Children don't become disrespectful and insolent overnight. It's not possible for me to accomplish in one paragraph what you failed to do in 17 years. Sorry.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CORNISH PASTIES

One pound round steak, cut into cubes, 1½ cups chopped onion, 1 cup raw potatoes, diced, salt and pepper, chopped celery and parsley, 2½ tablespoons butter, 8 tablespoons cream, rich pastry cut into rounds, about 6 to 8 inches.

Mix beef, onions, potatoes and seasonings. Place on one side of a pastry round. Dot with butter. Fold pastry over and press edges tightly. Prick to make steam holes. Brush with beaten egg or cream to make shiny glaze when baked. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in slow oven, 325 degrees F., for 2 hours, or until done. About 15 minutes before baking is over, remove from oven and make knife slit in top. Spoon in cream.

Attractive Miss Loralee Turgoose, last debutante to be presented to Hon. Frank Mackenzie Ross and Mrs. Ross at the debutante ball in the Empress Hotel in 1959, had no thought that she might be Victoria's last debutante to be presented at a United Services Institute Ball.

Mothers Wonder, Girls Ask: Will There Be Another Debutante Ball?

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Announcement Thursday that the United Services Ball (or as it is more popularly known—the Debutante Ball), arranged for Armistice Day in the Empress Hotel has been cancelled for this year. Immediately started telephones ringing around the city.

Questions that concerned Victoria's young set were: Why is it cancelled? Is this the end of debutante balls in Victoria or will the USI bring it back again next year?

Capt. W. G. Humphries, secretary of the United Services Institute of Vancouver Island says "indifference and an utter state of confusion led to cancellation of the ball this season."

CONFUSION BLAMED

Change of date from Oct. 7 to Nov. 11 started it, he claims, "and the fact that the lieutenant-governor's term of office concluded in early September and another was not named immediately. It was impossible for us to say that debutantes would be received by a representative of the Queen."

"Next year these factors will not occur," he said, "and no doubt we'll continue the ball."

Debutante of 1954, Miss Sally Learoyd would like to see debutante balls continued "although it does appear they are going out of vogue." (Toronto's Artillery Ball at which debutantes have been presented for many years, was also dropped this season.)

Miss Learoyd added: "I'm disappointed. I was looking forward to going again this year."

This disappointment spreads from the young set to the grown-ups, many of whom look forward to watching a new crop of debutantes bow to society each year. A good many parties had already been arranged for this year's ball.

"It's always been such a lovely evening," Mrs. G. H. Grant, mother of 1957 debutante, Ginny Grant, says, "and there are not too many evenings like that now."

OLD DAYS BEST

Mrs. R. T. McKean, who as Miss Mary Pearce, was a debutante in 1939, when 25 demure young girls made their curtsies at a ball in Government House when the late Eric W. Hamber was lieutenant-governor, says: "Perhaps I'm getting old, but I think the old way was best. I'd like to see the debutante ball returned to Government House, it seemed to mean so much more to a girl then."

Asked if she would like to see her daughter Allison a debutante whether the ball was sponsored by a service group or not, she added: "Certainly, when she is 18."

SHOULD PARENTS DO IT?

Miss Adrienne Allan, daughter of Lt.-Col. J. C. Allan, commanding officer of Work Point Barracks, and Mrs. Allan, and debutante in 1959, never heard of a debutante ball until she came to Victoria (from the State of Virginia).

"In the United States, debutantes are nearly always presented at big private parties thrown by their parents. I did enjoy it last year, though, and I do hope the USI continues the practice."

One official of the United Services Institute expressed the opinion that "expense might have something to do with it."

It costs a lot to present a young lady at the ball, he thought, especially when you consider the dress, flowers, ball tickets and the private parties that always go with the presentation.

Mrs. William Halkett, mother of a last year's debutante, Miss Sandy Halkett, says, "It is not that expensive."

She is sorry to see the ball cancelled for she believes it is an "experience that a young girl never forgets."

Mother of op. 1958 debutante thinks that "no one will care if the ball is cancelled."

She believes it may have served its purpose, although she did say she thought "that as formal entertaining has slipped so far into informality this formal ball was good for the youngsters... but others may feel it is pretentious and snobbish."

ROYAL INFLUENCE

Anne Wurtele, daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. A. C. Wurtele, and a 1956 debutante, believed there will be much disappointment amongst girls just reaching debutante age, and she would like to see the ball continued because of this fact.

She does think that the fact Her Majesty the Queen dropped the ceremony of receiving debutantes may have had repercussions here. "It may account for some of the indifference," she said.

Miss Janet Markham, debutante of 1957, when asked if she would like to see the balls continued said: "Oh yes indeed! I simply cannot understand why this one has been cancelled." Her mother, Mrs. S. D. Markham, thinks a debutante ball is "an occasion for young girls. It is a definite step for them from being teenagers into that divine state of becoming young ladies."

Question that naturally follows any conversation regarding the deb ball is whether another service group will take it up if the USI decide to withdraw. For instance, would the Naval Officers' Association, consider sponsoring the deb at its Trafalgar Day Ball—as they do in Vancouver. (Debutantes are being received in that city by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes at a Trafalgar ball to-night.)

"If either one or other of these associations does not continue presentation of debutantes you'll find our young girls crossing to Vancouver to make their bows," one rather worried mother said.

"And we certainly do not want that!"

Bridge and Tea Proceeds Assists Student Nurses

Many friendships were renewed as graduate nurses and friends met at annual fall tea and bridge party of St. Joseph's School of Nursing Alumnae.

Gold and bronze chrysanthemums and yellow candles in silver candelabra centred the refreshment table which was covered with a hand-crocheted cloth. Presiding at the head table were Mrs. Andrew Reid, Mrs. B. Cragg, Mrs. P. Bluet and Mrs. E. Prevost. Guests were received by Mrs. W. McLuhan, alumnae president, and the convener, Mrs. R. Kersey. Other conveners were Mrs. I. Moore co-convener with Mrs. Kersey of tea; Mrs. G. Rose, afternoon bridge and Mrs. A. Craigmyle, evening bridge.

Mrs. E. Boak and Mrs. J. Welch were in charge of home cooking; Mrs. R. Oakman and Mrs. R. McGregor, novelties and aprons and Mrs. Ken Roach, raffles. Student nurses

Well-Known Ottawa Editor To Speak Here

Michael Barkway, Ottawa editor and senior correspondent of Financial Post, will speak to the Women's Canadian Club next Monday in the Empress Hotel at 2.30 p.m.

The speaker was born in England, son of Bishop Barkway of St. Andrew's, and Mrs. Barkway. He was educated at Halesbury and Cambridge, was president of the Cambridge Union Debating Society and made a debating tour of the United States for this university in 1933. Following a year on the League of Nations secretariat, he became editor in charge of British Broadcasting Corporation overseas news service, and in 1933-34 was BBC Washington correspondent.

In 1945-49 he was BBC Canadian representative, resigning to join the editorial staff of Financial Post. Prior to his present appointment he was associate editor of Saturday Night.

Mr. Barkway, who has travelled widely, has also been Canadian correspondent for the Economist and the Observer of London, Eng.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope-Sanders

MONTREAL, Oct. 20th—Neglected repairs mean a loss in value of one of your important assets—your home. Right now, when things are less active, is the time to get the best workers for necessary repairs... and there's no need for delay if ready funds are lacking. Just see your neighbourhood BANK OF MONTREAL branch about a low-cost Home Improvement Loan. By paying cash for the work, you'll save money, too. Whether it's for relatively minor repairs or for some larger project, the way to pay for it is with a B of M Home Improvement Loan. Ask about the easy repayment terms at any branch of "My Bank."

DISCOVER FOR YOURSELF why they call MIRACLE WHIP the "good mixer" of salad dressings. Discover, as I do every day, that Miracle Whip is the good taste in most of your salads and sandwich fillings. You see, Miracle Whip's flavour is unique... it enhances other flavours without overwhelming them. You'll use it constantly, so I advise you to buy the larger, 32-ounce size—to save money. You'll find, when you buy it, that Miracle Whip is always fresh—always fresh because it's so popular. Yes, the popularity of Miracle Whip guarantees that it will never grow stale on your grocer's shelves!

I HAVE GOOD NEWS for hay fever, head-cold and sinus sufferers... and I'm sure that includes almost all of us at some time. SUPER ANAHIST NASAL SPRAY brings truly fast, effective relief from all of these miseries—don't take my word for it—just try it and see. You see, Super Anahist Nasal Spray, like all of the Super Anahist preparations, contains Theophylline, an exclusive antihistamine that quickly clears clogged nasal and sinus areas, relieves congestion in all major areas of infection. Try Super Anahist Nasal Spray—I'm sure you'll thank me for telling you about it.

I LIKE TO BRING A LIGHT TOUCH to heavy Autumn meals with a luscious dessert like this one—Peaches 'n' Cream, made with NESTLE'S PURE THICK CREAM and chilled canned peaches. Here's how:
Combine contents of 1 (6 ounce) tin NESTLE'S Pure Thick Cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla and 1/4 cup diced canned peaches. Spoon over chilled peach halves. Bake in 350° oven for 15 minutes. Nestle's Cream is delicious, too, as a topping for pies, jellies and so many other desserts. It keeps indefinitely, right on your kitchen shelf and I know, once you have handy tins of rich pasteurized Nestle's Cream in the house, you'll never be without it.

I'D LIKE TO SING THE PRAISES of this party treat—AYLMER Olives—Plain Queen, Stuffed Queen or Manzanilla. Each type has the Aylmer sunshine-fresh flavour that's so popular, crisp and delicate to taste. You'll notice that in these days of diet-conscious guests Aylmer Olives are the most popular items on the party tray. Popper with the family, too! For instance, try Aylmer Manzanilla Olives like this—add them to Aylmer Boston Brown Beans just before heating. Delicious! Yes, Aylmer Olives are definitely best for taste no matter how you serve them.

HERE'S A GOOD HABIT TO GET INTO... fight dangerous sewer germs that lurk in every drain... by using GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER once a week, every week. You see, liquid disinfectants can't budge the greasy muck these germs breed in... but Gillett's special churning, boiling action can quickly and completely scour out every trace of this germ breeding mess that collects in filthy, clogged-up drains. That's why it keeps drains fast-running, clean and sanitary... and why it's important to put 2 tablespoons of Gillett's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week.

BEST NOURISHED IN THE WORLD!... yes, surveys and statistics from hundreds of sources have proved best-fed-in-the-world. And high on the list of good, nourishing foods that keep them healthy and active is our own Canadian RED RIVER CEREAL. A wholesome blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax, with a tantalizing, nutty flavour, Red River Cereal provides extra energy values for youngsters and workers—and guards regularly for older people. Easy to prepare—cooks in a few minutes. Costs so little, too. Red River is best for all ages!

NOTHING EQUALS A WARMING BOWL of good hot soup on a chilly October day. And on the side, be sure to serve crackers spread with BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. Everything tastes better with Blue Bonnet on it! Blue Bonnet has a delightful, sunny-sweet flavour because it's made from the finest ingredients—pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added. You'll find Blue Bonnet is delicious on hot vegetables and excellent for all your baking, too. Get Blue Bonnet today and enjoy its good taste at every meal.

Twisted Hormones Aid Heart

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Special twisted hormones are safely reducing cholesterol in the blood of heart patients, two physicians reported today.

Cholesterol is a fatty material thought to play a part in choking and blocking arteries to the heart and in the brain. This produces heart attacks and strokes.

The twisted hormones are man-made variations of the thyroid hormone, thyroxine. They are twisted in the sense that their chemical molecules are backward or mirror-image versions of the natural hormone.

Natural thyroxine drastically reduces cholesterol. But it also speeds up bodily reactions, and can cause nervousness, irritability and loss of weight.

The new synthetic hormones do the job without causing undesirable effects, Drs. Maurice Best and Charles Duncan of Louisville, Ky., told opening sessions of the American Heart Association's annual scientific meeting.

UNION ASKED

Who'll Buy Burberrys For Firemen

Victoria Firemen's Union Thursday was asked to reply to a question that its members chip in towards the purchase price of Burberry coats for the force.

Under a conciliation board award, the firemen are entitled to one Burberry every eight years but the city and firemen are wrangling whether or not that means the coats must be provided to all at once or piecemeal over the next eight years.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said the taxpayers would take a "dim view" of providing coats for firemen for going to and leaving work and in any event the city did not have enough in its budget to make a bulk purchase this year.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said he suggested to the union that they contribute towards the cost of the coats because they would be using them during off-duty hours and after retirement from the force.

The union replied that future negotiations should be carried on by an aldermanic committee instead of city officials.

"I think they should be asked for a specific reply to the city manager's suggestion," said Ald. Arthur Dowell.

Men Outnumbered By Women At Inspection

Skirts appear to be replacing trousers in today's militia — and no reference is intended to kilts.

At Bay Street Armory Tuesday night, the 5th (British Columbia) Independent Medium Battery, and 155 Company Royal Canadian Army Service Corps were inspected by Brigadier J. W. Bishop, area commander.

During the service corps inspection and march past, a platoon of 30 males was followed by two platoons numbering 40 women, many of whom joined during the current drive for additional volunteers.

'WORTHWHILE' FOR TEACHERS

Gelling Backs Conventions

Greater Victoria School Board chairman W. C. Gelling today defended teachers' conventions after they were attacked by a northern school board.

"I think the conventions, certainly the ones here, are worthwhile and I don't think they'll die out," he said.

Mr. Gelling was commenting on a report that the Prince George School Board had questioned the value of the North Central B.C. Teachers' Convention which opens Thursday.

The northern trustees instructed their school superintendent to appraise the convention and report whether its program justifies closure of school for two days.

"In view of the rising cost ing the convention program, we are very concerned that teachers are taking advantage of the School Act to utilize our time for the greater part of the convention," said Prince George Trustee Harold Moffat.

Mr. Gelling pointed out that under the act the teachers were entitled to take two school days off for their convention "but our teachers voluntarily have reduced this to one school day by holding their convention next Friday and Saturday."

He added that the board's practice is to dock teachers a

A FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE

Phil Lee's Two for the Show

AA (Oscar Class) B (For Rainy Days) A (Don't Miss) C (To put in time)

(BB PLUS TO A) "IT STARTED IN NAPLES" (Capitol): In spite of a story so light that you can almost see through the holes in the dark, Paramount's "It Started In Naples" emerges as an engaging comedy that perhaps would have been just a trifle funnier if its 100 minutes running time had been cut a trifle.

Nonetheless, its lush Technicolor photography of the fabled Isle of Capri is bound to brighten these gloomy days. What's more, such veteran titlers at bon mots as Clark Gable and Vittorio De Sica, subtract from the over-all allure not one whit and the presence of curvaceous Sophia Loren adds things to the beauties of Capri that Old Sol by himself never could.

Perhaps the brightest spark to the Melville Shavelson film is a young man of one name, Marietto, who should be charged with grand larceny for the manner in which he steals some of the major scenes.

The story concerns itself with Gable, a wealthy Philadelphia lawyer and bachelor who comes to Italy to settle the estate of his deceased brother. Brother was quite a kid. In addition to some $14,000 of unsaleable fireworks he also left Marietto, an illegitimate lad whose mother, too, is dead.

Gable, of course, would adopt the boy and take him home with him to the U.S. and innoctrinate him the great American goal of "success" and money. However first he has to deal with Miss Loren, Marietto's poor but beautiful aunt. Auntie will fight to the death to keep the kid.

From there on in the film alternately moves from being truly funny to truly silly. But because of the boy, the magnificence of the scenery, the undeniable charm of Gable and De Sica and, not forgetting Miss Loren's natural attributes, "It Started In Naples" should please almost everyone in search of a couple of hours of lovely escapism.

Plane Saves 2 From Capsized Fishing Boat

(Times News Services)

PRINCE RUPERT—Two men were rescued Thursday when an RCAF Canoe located a fishboat missing since Monday on a trip from Queen Charlotte City to this northern B.C. community.

R. H. Simonson of Prince Rupert and Joseph Tulip of Skidgate Mission, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, were rescued from the capsized vessel.

Both men are in good condition.

TAX MORATORIUM—Vancouver—One-year reductions in federal individual income, corporation and sales taxes were recommended Thursday night by British Columbia Liberal leader Ray Perrault as a "fast hypo to Canada's sagging economy."

In a speech to the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association he recommended that the sales tax be temporarily reduced by 50 per cent.

CRUSHED BY TRUCK

VANCOUVER—Gordon Robbins, 64, of Coquitlam, a provincial highways department employee who was scheduled to retire next month, Thursday was crushed to death between his parked work truck and a car that was out of control.

FEUD SURVIVOR DEAD

KASLO—A descendant of the Kentucky Hatfield clan of famous feuding families, Franklin (Slim) Hatfield, 78, died in his boat on the Howser Lake in the Lardeau Valley as he prepared to make a round of his trap lines. He died Tuesday night. He had been a trapper in the Lardeau for 32 years.

JAIL SUICIDE TRIED

NEW WESTMINSTER—B.C. Appeal Court was told Thursday that Frank Ross, 46, is recovering in his Oakalla Prison cell after slashing his wrists. He is appealing two consecutive six-month sentences for wilful damage imposed after he allegedly wrecked fixtures in his cell.

BRANCH HOSPITALS

VANCOUVER—Vancouver General Hospital branches, which would include psychiatric units, were recommended Thursday night for Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon, and other Okanagan centres.

Dr. James Tyhurst, head of psychiatry at the University of B.C., said at the annual meeting of the Vancouver branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association patients should not have to travel long distances for treatment.

He said all hospital services, including the psychiatric, should be closely integrated as part of the over-all medical diagnosis.

Students Feel Pinch Of Police Crackdown

Saanich police are continuing their crackdown on students breaking traffic laws while walking or riding bicycles to and from school.

In the past two days they caught 16 youngsters from six Saanich schools. Appearances in juvenile court will follow for them and their parents.

Last week 18 similar cases were heard in juvenile court, resulting in fines and admonitions.

LIFE-SAVING

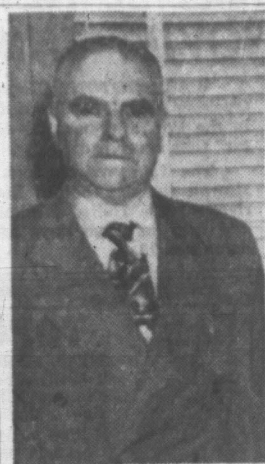

Charges laid this week, in what police maintain is meant to be a life-saving drive, include:

One student hitch-hiking; eight walking along the road with their backs to the traffic; six bicycle riders weaving back and forth across the road, and one riding double on a bicycle.

DEFY LAW

"Children have been warned

Victoria Daily Times 27
FRIDAY, OCT. 21, 1960

VICTORIA LAWYER P. J. Sinnott was elected president of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association at its annual meeting Thursday night. Mrs. R. C. Campbell was elected vice-president; John Fox, secretary-treasurer; Gordon Elworthy, Mrs. Isabel Mowat, Eugene Tierney, Berkeley Monteith, Francis Quincey, Frank Mulliner, James Bryant, John Moore and William Nelles, executive.

CD Chiefs Meet On Co-Ordination For Area Groups

Civil Defence survival plans affecting the Greater Victoria target area were discussed Wednesday at a meeting of CD officials and heads of civic services at a morning-long meeting held at Work Point Barracks.

Aim of the gathering, chaired by Lieut.-Col. J. C. Allan, commanding officer, 2nd Battalion, PPCLI, was to co-ordinate provincial, Greater Victoria and army roles in event of an emergency.

Provincial CD head Brig. G. A. McCarter represented the province and Commodore V. S. Godfrey, head of Greater Victoria civil defence operations, represented this area. Also present was Commodore J. C. L. Edwards, co-ordinator for Victoria of the mutual aid area.

Heads of police, fire, health and engineering services also attended.

Another meeting to establish firm liaison between the various organizations is scheduled for one month's time.

WINS AWARD—Professor Frank A. Forward, head of the metallurgy department of the University of British Columbia, has been awarded a John Scott award by the city of Philadelphia. A native of Ottawa and a graduate of the University of Toronto, Prof. Forward received the medallion and a $1,000 cash prize for discovering a new method of extracting nickel and other metals from ore concentrates.

'A PLAY FOR VOICES' BY THEATRE GUILD

Theatre Fans: This Is a Must

"UNDER MILK WOOD"
By Dylan Thomas
Cast:
Richard Litt
John Martin
Bud Bishop
Harold Gelling
Ray Huie
Helen Smith
Grace Tuckey
Margaret Johnston
Neeta Morris
Enel Lloyd Jones

By AUDREY JOHNSON

This week at Langham Court Victoria Theatre Guild has deserted the stereotyped performance and is offering something unique, both in subject matter and presentation. Aptly billed as "a play for voices" Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood" is rich, earthily humorous, musical, in the rhythms and cadence of its Welsh speech, wonderfully vital and imaginative in language.

ENTHUSIASTIC

At a preview Wednesday, and again on its official opening Thursday night, its performance was greeted with marked enthusiasm by the audience.

The black-garbed actors sit in groups on a stage, mood-lighted and dressed to convey the impression of a Welsh coastal village during a single night and day.

Director Bert Williams is to be congratulated on his understanding and visualization of the work. The cast of 62 was represented by 10 actors, yet each character was distinctly created and sustained throughout.

In almost every case the actor's imagination projected the character so strongly that it took shape and lived in the mind's eye.

Horse-of-Year Honors at Stake

NEW YORK (AP)—Cain, Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle and Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer are the top contenders in Saturday's $100,000-added Man o' War Handicap to be run at Belmont Park. The horse-of-the-year votes hinge on the outcome.

Outstanding were Helen Smith's seven parts, especially her "Poly Garter" with its uninhibited warmth and poignancy. Her unaccompanied singing of Polly's lament for "Willy Wee" was utterly charming.

Richard Litt handled the part of narrator excellently.

LESS MOVEMENT

Despite the good diction I felt that a little more attention to tempos for contrast and effect would have improved the over-all quality. Also I would have liked less movement on the part of some who appeared to be trying for physical action in this voice play, and there were many tiny holes in the fabric when a pause followed the narrator's introduction of a character.

Sound effects were excellent and managed with taste and skill but the scenic background was less satisfactory than I had anticipated, appearing somewhat patchy and uncoordinated.

It's a pity that "Under Milk Wood" is only to be repeated tonight and Saturday, for it well deserves the attention of every real theatre fan and, in fact, a second visit.

Second Conviction

Naval seaman Bruce Ernest Blakeman, HMC Dockyard, was sentenced in Esquimalt police court Tuesday to seven days in jail on his second conviction for driving while his licence was suspended.

Earlier, Blakeman was fined $210 for driving while suspended, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and careless driving, after pleading guilty in city police court.

The Esquimalt offence took place before the one charged in Victoria, but was treated as a second conviction.

How to separate the 'men' from the 'boys' when you buy a compact car

Compact cars come in assorted sizes and prices. Some are top performers; others don't quite make the grade. How to separate them? Compare them with the Austin A99.

Why is the A99 such a perfect yardstick? Because it's the "ideal" in a compact car, combining more fine features than any other compact car—and they're all available as standard equipment!

Austin-Healey Power—the spirited fun of a twin-carburetor sports-car engine... plus overdrive! Both standard equipment! (Fully automatic transmission optional.)

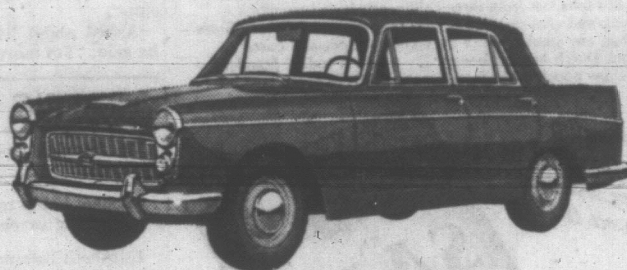

Power-operated Disc Brakes—two safety features to give you sure-footed braking even at highway speeds. Never need adjustment! Both standard equipment and not available on other compacts!

Elegant "finishing touches"—full-grain leather upholstery, deep-pile broadloom on the floor, deep-cushioned foam rubber seats with arm-rests. All standard equipment!

Famed "Farina" Styling—classic lines created by the designer of the world's most elegant automobiles, Italian master Pinin Farina.

Got a compact car all picked out? Compare it with the A99. If it doesn't quite measure up, we suggest you call your Austin dealer and have him demonstrate the A99 for you. No obligation. You'll be pleased to discover what a powerful, finely-styled and well-constructed automobile you can buy for only $2855!

AUSTIN ANSWERS EVERY DRIVING NEED WITH SIX GREAT CARS, FROM $1365 to $3450.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price west coast port of entry—includes, heater, defroster, turn signals, spare tire, tools and 12-month written factory warranty. V61-0015

Car Thieves Flee

DUNCAN—A car stolen from downtown Duncan collided with another, driven by Mahinder Singh of Lake Cowichan, on the Lake Cowichan Road near Tansor Crossing Thursday night.

Occupants of the stolen car, owned by Mrs. C. A. Williams, Jubilee Street, fled the scene after the collision.

RUSSIAN FILM OPENS SERIES

'World Tour' for $3.50

Like to visit Russia, the West Indies, Portugal, Mexico and Hungary for only $3.50? That, in a sense, is what Greater Victoria School Board's night school division is offering in a new program of five film lectures from the famed "World Around Us" series.

Each session will be a "travelogue in depth" because it will be presented by photographer-commentators who not only will give a commentary on their travel films, but also answer audience questions on particular points.

RUSSIA

A film on Russia will open the series Oct. 28 at 8.30 p.m.

DR. TELFORD WORK ... widely travelled

In Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium where all of the film lectures will be held at monthly intervals, excluding December.

More than 450 persons, already are signed up for the series and as many again can register by phoning EV 5-1411 or attending the first offering. Dr. Telford A. Work, an American specialist in tropical diseases, will describe his film on Russia taken during an extensive tour. A widely-travelled and literary scientist, he visited Russian medical centres and gave lectures at the Russians' invitation after he had achieved prominence by discovering a new virus disease in India.

Defector Would Go Back 'When Cold War Is Over'

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Guy Burgess, British diplomat who defected to Russia in 1951, said here Wednesday night about his life in Russia: "It comes to everybody to feel he has made a mistake, and you can quote me on that."

Burgess said he would like to go back to Britain but "I won't go back as long as the cold war lasts."

The former British Foreign Office employee talked with Western correspondents after gate-crashing a Western party.

After the party, he was heard to say: "Oh God, I suppose this will make headlines again."

Burgess appeared at the party wearing a single-breasted London-made suit, a red vest and his old Eton school tie.

STILL BRITISH

"I have not taken Soviet citizenship," he told the reporters. "I am a British subject."

Burgess disappeared from Britain in 1951 with Donald Maclean another Foreign Office man, and both later turned up in Russia.

Burgess said he could not speak for Maclean but it was generally understood that Maclean also has not changed his nationality.

Burgess said: "Of course I would like to go back to Britain for a holiday, just so long as I could be certain of getting back to the Soviet Union."

"STUPID" PAPER

He said a "stupid" white paper had been issued by the British government which called him a Soviet agent, "which I was not."

"I'm a socialist, I'm not a Communist," he declared. They couldn't let me go back. They are more afraid of my going back than I am.

"Just think of the pressure the Americans would put on. I won't go back as long as the cold war goes on."

Asked how long that would be, he replied, "Ask the Americans."

Asked about life in Russia, he said: "I'm more happy after ten years than I was after five years."

But he refused to say what it was he disliked previously.

MISSILE NEVER CAME; SOVIET SHIPS GO HOME

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Four Soviet missile-tracking ships have headed home after waiting a month in the Pacific apparently for a Russian "space spectacular" that never came.

The four vessels took up their positions west of Hawaii the day before Soviet Premier Khrushchev arrived at the United Nations in New York on Sept. 19, and they left two days after Khrushchev departed for home Oct. 13.

'A Particularly Sharp Exchange With Howe'

By J. W. PICKERSGILL
(14th of a Series)

It was not merely in the cabinet that Mackenzie King found differences as to the meaning of the conscription plebiscite which was given a two-to-one majority throughout the nation, but was soundly defeated in Quebec.

The plebiscite released the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitment, restricting the method of raising men for military service.

On April 29, 1942, Mackenzie King observed the members in caucus were "all very sensitive at the moment, particularly Quebec members."

"They seem to be in a quandary as to whether to sympathize with me in disappointment over Quebec, or to congratulate me on the country's confidence, etc. Quebec Members who supported the Government feel that I have been let down by the province generally through the action of the others. They also feel very keenly that they themselves have been put into a very disadvantageous position in their own province, and that, for the moment, the rebels are on top."

"I am seeking to have them see that it is the final stage, and not the first, that counts in matters of this kind."

'A Mistake'

On May 1, Mackenzie King was told that the Ontario ministers had met the day before and had agreed to try and have the members from Ontario generally support all-out conscription at once. He then spoke to each of the Ontario ministers and had a particularly sharp exchange with C. D. Howe. Later he wondered "whether I made a mistake in speaking so sharply to the Ontario ministers."

Mackenzie King decided, on May 1, that "the thing to do is to get the same freedom from legislation as we have had from the pledge, stating the Government's policy to be only the extension of application of conscription for the present . . . to the Western Hemisphere . . . making some pledge which would bring us back to Parliament before we actually enforce conscription."

"In that event I can always have my colleagues understand that they will have to find another leader if there is an attempt to bring conscription into force where that is not necessary."

Ralston Upset

There was a long Cabinet meeting on May 6 which "went over much the same ground as yesterday." When Mackenzie King "mentioned that unless there would still be opportunity for Parliament to have its say before conscription was finally resorted to, there would be undoubtedly pressure from the defence department to have it introduced at once," Ralston "took offence at this remark."

"He said that he thought that that was at the back of my mind; that I would be feeling he would be bringing pressure at the back of Cabinet to enforce conscription."

"He said he had come to Council in the morning feeling that he might have to break with his colleagues in the matter of not agreeing to a second discussion on the plebiscite; that he was prepared to do all he could to avoid conscription coming any sooner than was necessary."

"I understood him to say, he was prepared to have the Cabinet agree among themselves that Parliament could be consulted in the manner he had described, but he did not think anything should be said about it in advance."

"I told Ralston he was quite mistaken."

New Difficulty

Mackenzie King thought his colleagues were with him, "excepting Ralston and MacDonald, feeling that we should go to Parliament, before passing an order that would apply conscription." But a new difficulty appeared when Cardin "held strongly for not repealing Section 3 at present."

"The rest of the Cabinet, however, all felt that if we did not take some immediate steps to make sure that we have complete freedom of action in the Cabinet, the Government's position would be attacked and begin to deteriorate."

"It would all be put down to finding it expedient to keep Quebec, etc., and we might lose ground that we never could recover."

'Greatest Crisis'

On Saturday (May 9) Mackenzie King reflected that this was "quite the greatest crisis that has faced not only the party but the country."

On May 13 he had a meeting with Ralston, St. Laurent, and the Chiefs of Staff and told them what he had learned in Washington at Easter about the military plans of the Allies.

He then said to the Chiefs of Staff that he "had a further reason for wishing the interview and that was to discuss with them the situation that had arisen out of the plebiscite, and what it signified."

"I said some people interpreted the vote as one favoring conscription. I, myself, believed if the vote had been on conscription that conscription would have been defeated. If it had been for conscription, I myself, would have voted against conscription."

"Be that as it may, it was clear that one third of the population of Canada were not even prepared to trust the Government on the possibility of having conscription introduced. That an entire province was solidly against it."

Riots Feared

"I did not believe conscription could be enforced against Quebec without great resistance and riots. Recalled the difficulty Borden had, even after he had Union Government . . ."

"What I wanted to impress upon them was not to take the vote of the plebiscite as a vote on conscription, but to know that the Government had a real political problem."

Mackenzie King's speech in the House "did not come until the evening (July 7) and he worked on it all afternoon. When he got to the House of Commons at about a quarter past 8, Ralston was in the ante-room of his office."

"I told him to come in. When he came in, he said he felt he had no alternative but to tender his resignation . . . was sorry to have to take the step, but he could not do otherwise."

"I pointed out to him that there was no difference between us excepting one of procedure on a small technical point. He said, 'No, it was one of principle, of not having any delays but needing action.' I said to him to wait till he heard what I had to say in the evening in the debate before writing his letter."

"I thought he would find we were not very far apart, and had so worded what I was going to say as to leave little or no margin between us, and to speak only for myself on the one point which was needed in order to get the confidence that would be required to carry on. I was really trying to make the situation workable should conscription become necessary."

When he went into the House Mackenzie King found there were still one or two more speakers and he returned to his office for a short rest. While he was resting his secretary brought in a letter from Ralston.

"He opened it and glanced at it quickly, and saw it was his resignation. Noticed that he spoke about approval of decision. Felt I had all I needed in that to show the line of demarcation between us. It left him without any real ground for him to stand on for resigning."

"To resign would mean he was not trusting Parliament at a time when, above all others, he needed the help of Parliament. Felt he could not afford to go out on those lines, though, knowing his tenacity, I felt that he might hold tight to his resignation, particularly as I can see that, through (ray) opposing his views, he was becoming somewhat antagonistic toward myself."

"He came into the House while Joseph Harris, MP for Danforth, was speaking. I said to him he and I would talk this whole matter over later."

To say nothing to anyone in the meantime."

Mackenzie King moved third reading of Bill 80 on July 23. "I felt a little embarrassed all the time of speaking with Ralston at by side following closely what I was saying, and knowing what his objections were to any promise to go to Parliament. I was relieved to find Ralston raising no objections."

"The vote on third reading was 141 to 45, but only two French-speaking Liberal private members voted for the Bill."

"Mackenzie King was very happy at the caucus on July 29. He "told caucus I had called them together to express my thanks for the support Members had given the Administration last night, mentioning it as one of the greatest tributes ever paid to a Prime Minister or to a Ministry . . . I expressed what it meant to have a vote of confidence at this time. I told them of the anxiety I had had in deciding on 'different courses and . . . that the darkest hours are still to come . . . the most terrible time of all when our own men will begin to cross to the continent and large numbers be slain."

"I asked them to see where the Administration would be where all would be if, when that time comes, it could be said that the Government had not taken all the power to itself that it needed to help to do our full part. No caucus has pleased me more."

ATOM SUB LAUNCHING
MARKS TRAFALGAR DAY

BARROW-IN-FURNESS (Reuters) — The Royal Navy entered the nuclear age today as Queen Elizabeth launched Dreadnought, Britain's first atomic-powered submarine.

The launching of the 3,500-ton vessel, equipped with an American engine, was staged on Trafalgar Day, anniversary of the naval victory over Napoleon 155 years ago.

One of the most powerful weapons of war ever produced by Britain, the whale-shaped craft will, if trials prove satisfactory, be the prototype of a first series of nuclear "killer" submarines.

The vessel is expected to be in operation in 1962.

'WE WON'T BE PUSHED OUT'

U.S. Will Hold
Base in Cuba

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said Thursday that the navy won't be pushed out of its base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Naval Base
Strength
'Beefed Up'

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The navy reported today it has beefed up its marine contingent at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba.

The action coincided with diplomatic reports here that Cuba is expected to establish diplomatic relations shortly with Communist East Germany, further tightening Castro's political and economic ties with the Soviet and Communist Chinese bloc.

The navy declined to disclose the size of the increase but a spokesman said it was "not large." The normal marine complement at Guantanamo is 180 enlisted men and eight officers, the spokesman said.

'Buy Canada'
Cuban Theme

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says four businessmen left Havana for Toronto this week with Cuban orders for $7,500,000 worth of Canadian goods.

The newspaper says its information was from Roger ParLOUR, Canadian commercial secretary in Havana, who is quoted as saying every Cuban government agency is "shopping" furiously for almost everything they can get.

More Canadian Sales
If Cubans Can Pay

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times says in an article today most Canadian exporters expect to increase sales to Cuba as a result of the United States embargo on U.S. exports.

But, says a dispatch from Montreal, the increase will be dependent upon Cuba's ability to pay cash and whether the U.S. will apply the Foreign Assets Control Act.

Application of the Act would mean no Canadian subsidiary of an American corporation could trade with Cuba.

Canada has protested use of the Act on previous occasions — in trade with Communist China — and got from the U.S. a reluctant agreement not to Black Market to Help?

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's economic czar said Thursday night the U.S. embargo on most exports to Cuba will not seriously harm the island nation, partly because black marketeers in the United States will defy it.

But National Bank president Ernesto Che Guevara conceded Cuba faces difficulties. He said Cuba "must have confidence in the solidarity of the nations that have offered to stand by us, extending economic aid invoke it where it might affect the Canadian economy.

Canadian sales to Cuba are conditioned on guaranteed payments.

Exemption of Canadian banks from Premier Fidel Castro's nationalization moves takes on "additional significance," The Financial Times says.

"The banks are obviously to be used to finance Canadian trade with Cuba — probably through extended credits to the government — as the price of remaining in business."

Canada has protested use of the Act on previous occasions — in trade with Communist China — and got from the U.S. a reluctant agreement not to

Colwood Brothers Crushed
To Death Helping Friend

WHERE VICTIMS WERE TRAPPED

Car which brought death to brothers Jack and Tom Cameron of Colwood is late-model sedan seen above, owned by Gerry Van Humbeck of Sooke. They were crushed between rear of car and bumper of tow truck.

Driver Charged
After Ramming
Into Tow Truck

Two Colwood district brothers were killed early today when crushed between a car and a tow truck while helping a friend whose car had left the road.

Dead are Jack L. Cameron, 32, of 2253 Sooke Road, and Tom Cameron, 35, also of Sooke Road.

The accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. on Sooke Road, immediately east of Dewdney Flats.

According to reports, a tow truck owned by Jack Cameron, proprietor of Colwood Royalite Service, had been used to pull a car owned by Gerry Van Humbeck of Sooke from a ditch.

When it was safely on the pavement the Jack Cameron two brothers crouched between the car and the truck to attach a sway plate for safer towing. As they knelt, a car driven west by William John Stewart, Kemp Lake Road, Sooke, crashed into the tow truck and caught the two men between the vehicles.

Jack Cameron apparently died instantly.

His brother revived long enough to say "How's my brother?" then he too collapsed.

Mrs. Dorothy Stewart, 47, passenger in the other car, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Langford ambulance for treatment of head injuries. Her condition was described today as "fairly good."

Stewart was charged by Colwood RCMP with impaired driving, and was scheduled to appear in Colwood police court this afternoon.

Mr. Van Humbeck said today he had been driving to Sooke when he was forced off the road and into a ditch by the bright headlights of an oncoming car.

SOMEBODY WON

WorldWide
Gold Boom
Collapses

(See also page 12.)

(Times News Services)

The swift puncturing of the "gold bubble" that sent the price of bullion soaring to $40.60 in London Thursday and $42 to Toronto had experts puzzling over who profited.

Somebody made a lot of money and somebody lost a lot in the wild scrambling market. The gold fever definitely had subsided in London today as the opening price fell to $36.55, down almost $4 from Thursday's top.

But across the world in Hong Kong, the fever broke out again briefly today sending the price up to U.S. $50.85, before trading was suspended.

London reported widespread assumption that U.S. interests operating through Swiss banks were responsible for Thursday's buying.

Stocks in gold mining firms leaped Thursday in British, European and North American security exchanges but today, at least in Canada, they had declined in early trading almost as much as they had gained.

In Johannesburg, South Africa, what was described as "close to mob violence" occurred as brokers scrambled to get in on the gold trading while in France, Finance Minister Baumgartner Thursday warned speculators they were heading for "immense and mortifying setbacks."

CRISIS THREATENED

A writer in The Guardian of Manchester warned that the situation which saw gold prices soar to $41 an ounce before dropping back to $37 and $39 threatened the most dangerous currency crisis since the war.

It noted that the U.S., "in spite of the heavy drain of recent years," still has the largest stock of gold in the world.

The U.S. buys gold for $34.9125 and sells it for $35.0875.

The Daily Express claimed much of the demand for gold is coming via Switzerland from oil-rich Arabs and from the troubled Congo.

main reason for the gold rush is the sudden loss of confidence in the United States dollar" and added that "much of the buying can be traced to American interests."

WIDE REPERCUSSIONS

The increases in the price of gold were biggest in London. But gold markets in Paris, Germany and Italy also reported higher prices and increased business.

DEVALUATION DENIED

In Washington, persistent rumors of impending devaluation of the dollar brought this formal denial from the treasury: "The United States will continue its policy of buying gold from and selling gold to foreign governments, central banks and under certain conditions, international institutions, for the settlement of international balances or for other legitimate monetary purposes, at the established rate of $35 per fine troy ounce, exclusive of handling charges."

Deputy Appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced the appointment of Rodrigue Bedard, municipal judge for the city of Hull, Que., as associate deputy minister of justice.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker gave a strong indication today that Parliament will meet before Christmas, suggesting at the same time that this may set a pattern for future sessions.

He told reporters that he discussed with top Progressive Conservative leaders meeting here the possibilities of the session beginning before Christmas to ensure that legislative work is completed at an earlier date than it was in the recent past.

He noted that the last session of Parliament began Jan. 14 and ended Aug. 10 and said that the British Parliament had found it more efficient and effective to break up its work into three periods — pre-Christmas, January to Easter, and post-Easter.

He declined to speculate on an opening date when reporters reminded him of speculation that Parliament would meet Nov. 17. But later he remarked that by starting before Christmas it would be possible to clear up the throne speech, debate and "those things that ordinarily take a period of four or five weeks."

By following that practice it would be possible to get down to effective work on the legislative program by January.

Mr. Diefenbaker said no date had yet been set. If it was decided to call Parliament before Christmas, it would not be because of unemployment or any other specific matter.

Regarding a fall session becoming a regular pattern in the future, the prime minister said that if the government proceeds with such a course and finds the British experience holds good for this country "it might well be the basis for the future."

Sooke Bail

VANCOUVER (CP) — C. W. Thornton, found guilty of contempt of court at the same time as a cabinet minister, filed an appeal Thursday and was to appear in court today to plead for bail.

Thornton, of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, received an indefinite jail sentence and Highway Minister Gagliardi of British Columbia was fined $1,000 for wilful contempt of court by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris Thursday. Mr. Gagliardi filed an appeal immediately.

The four demands were listed as:

Withdrawal of U.N. troops from arms depots in the Congolese army camp at Leopoldville.

Free use of arms stored there by Congolese troops.

The right of the Congolese army to use Leopoldville's Ndili airport for military traffic.

Permission to increase the number of Congolese troops at the airfield.

OWN SPUTNIK

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Company today asked United States government authority to put up a space satellite as the first station in a proposed international communications system. It said it wished to do this within a year.

This would be the first satellite launched under private auspices, and the first commercial application of satellites.

The project would be financed and operated by American Telephone in co-ordination with telephone administrations abroad.

B.C.'S 'RELUCTANCE' SURPRISES FULTON

Power From Columbia
46 Per Cent Cheaper

VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbia River downstream power can be delivered in Vancouver for 3.77 mills a kilowatt, Justice Minister Fulton told a Vancouver newspaper in a telephone interview from Ottawa.

Mr. Fulton, head of Canada's negotiating team with the United States on Columbia development, corrected earlier

De Gaulle Taking Issue to People

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle today called for national unity in the face of the most severe threat yet to his regime.

De Gaulle opened a three-day tour of southeast France with a defence of his government while opposition to his plans to make France an independent nuclear force gathered strength in the capital.

Urging unity in tackling "great tasks," de Gaulle declared: "We cannot carry out these tasks in dispersion and dispute. National cohesion is necessary." He insisted France must have the nuclear deterrent.

Defending his two-year regime, de Gaulle said it has found stable institutions, established economic stability, freed some African colonies "and we are in the process of building an Algerian Algeria."

Monday the government of Premier Michel Debre faces a censure motion, over de Gaulle's nuclear plans. If it loses the government would fall.

But this would not be permitted if B.C. had to pay higher rates for an alternate source of electricity.

He also said Ottawa's offer last March to finance half the cost of construction at the going interest rate plus one-eighth was only a preliminary offer for bargaining purposes. It was not the final figure.

The B.C. government was reported to be unhappy with the offer, and Mr. Fulton said he has no idea what B.C. intends to do about financing the $458,000,000 project.

"We have been surprised and somewhat concerned over the reluctance of B.C. to come to grips with this matter," said Mr. Fulton of financing. "Maybe they feel they can do the whole thing themselves."

"We have made an excellent deal for them and now we don't want to intrude if they don't want us."

The low cost would be attributable to downstream benefits from added generation in the U.S. through water storage in Canada.

Mr. Fulton also said Ottawa reserves the right to see that Columbia downstream power is used judiciously. If it is surplus to B.C.'s power needs in 1970, he said, it may be left in the United States for adequate compensation.

KATANGA DEMANDS RECALL OF UN STAFF

Inefficiency Charged

ELIZABETHVILLE (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga Province tonight demanded the immediate recall of the senior United Nations representative in Katanga, as well as part of his military staff.

Tshombe called the official, Ian Berendsen, "totally inefficient." He said Berendsen and his aides are working against the good of Katanga.

"I am deeply convinced it is impossible to work honestly with them," he told a press conference.

Earlier, Berendsen had flown with Katanga representatives to Kabalo, in the northern part of this secessionist province, to investigate charges of "scandalous behavior" by UN Ethiopian troops.

Tshombe charged Thursday that six UN soldiers at Kabalo were caught looting European houses while a UN observer looked on. He also said troops in northern Katanga helped rebel Baluba tribesmen and stood by passively while rebels killed and molested local people.

UN REJECTS ULTIMATUM

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Authoritative sources said today the United Nations command has rejected a four-point ultimatum presented Thursday by Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu.

The four demands were listed as:

Withdrawal of U.N. troops from arms depots in the Congolese army camp at Leopoldville.

Free use of arms stored there by Congolese troops.

The right of the Congolese army to use Leopoldville's Ndili airport for military traffic.

Permission to increase the number of Congolese troops at the airfield.

(Compiled From Times News Services)

NEW YORK—Telephone subscribers who thumb through the 1961 Manhattan classified directory will find the space age at their fingertips.

A listing in the new yellow pages reads: "Missile and Rocket Manufacturers."

EL MONTE, Calif. — John K. Harrison, 38, owner of a liquor store, was told by a bandit simulating a gun to hand over all his cash.

"No," said Harrison.

"I'd hate to shoot you for it," said the bandit.

When Harrison still refused to give up the money in the cash register, he told police the bandit fled, muttering, "you're making it awfully tough on a fellow . . ."

LUNEBURG, West Germany — The higher administration court here has rejected a claim by the widow of Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, a former commander in chief of Hitler's army, for damages for the loss of his marshal's baton.

The baton was reported to have been confiscated by British soldiers.

The court ruled that Charlotte von Brauchitsch's claim was made too late. There can be no appeal.

BOSTON—Urging motorists to be careful, the Automobile Legal Association said today: "Drive as if you were early for an appointment with your dentist."

MONTREAL — Cuba's Russian-made jet planes are no match for a small plane and a Canadian-trained bush pilot, says Jack Glynn, Toronto-born flier who claims to have flown 17 missions into Cuba.

Glynn said he was in Havana less than three weeks ago, flying out people who disagree with the regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Glynn, reminiscing in his Montreal rooming-house, said he has no desire to return to strife-torn Cuba.

"The place was loaded with Russian technicians."

Glynn doesn't hold out too much hope of the counter-revolutionary elements in Cuba.

"They are short of guns and it is difficult to buy and ship weapons without the FBI learning about it. If the G-men find out, then they confiscate the guns."

DALLAS, Tex. — E. P. Haney couldn't care less if some people consider him square. He hates rock and roll music.

So he became a hit unhappy Thursday when a station which features nothing but this type of music overrode the frequency of a station of his choice.

"Can't you do something about this?" Haney asked a young woman at the station on the phone. "You're drifting

"Man," the young lady replied, "How'd you like to have to work out here?"

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Not everyone was pleased with the resurfacing of State Street, a major artery leading from Pennsylvania's capitol to Harrisburg's eastern suburbs.

While motorists enjoyed the new smooth surface, city workers unhappily went about trying to locate manhole covers and water valve boxes.

City officials complained that a state highway department crew paved right over the manholes and boxes in two blocks before the error was discovered.

GLASGOW — The installation of British Science Minister Lord Hailsham as rector of Glasgow University was a dismal flop to the students today—it went off without a hitch.

No one threw anything, there was no quarrelling in the audience and interruptions never lasted for more than a few seconds. It was the quietest installation in the university's history.

Students sadly recalled better days, such as 1957, when British Home Secretary R. A. Butler had to stand up to a barrage of rotten fruit and flour bombs to receive his appointment.

Duchess Dead, Was Grandmother Of Aaa Khan

LONDON (AP) — The 86-year-old Duchess of Leinster, a vaudeville star of the gay nineties and grandmother of the present Aga Khan, was found dead in her bath Thursday night.

Her death was believed due to natural causes.

Born Jessie Smith, daughter of a bartender, she made her name in vaudeville as Denise Orme. One of her hit songs was Nobody Ever Marries Me. Actually three men did.

Her first husband was John Yarde-Buller, who became Lord Churston. Her four daughters by that marriage became the wives of Prince Aly Khan, Baron Ebury, Earl Cadogan and the Duke of Bedford.

Theodore Wessel was her second husband, and in 1946 she married the Duke of Leinster, Ireland's premier duke. The duke, 68, survives her.

WITNESS' BABY SAVED BY HOSPITAL COURT

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — An emergency court set up in an English maternity hospital saved the life of a day-old baby boy.

For 90 minutes the baby hovered near death. Only a complete change of blood could save him.

But the parents, both Jehovah's Witnesses, refused to allow a transfusion because it was against their religious beliefs.

The doctors turned to the law.

A makeshift juvenile court was held in a room adjoining the maternity ward.

County welfare officer Florence Valentine sought legal custody of the baby on the ground that it was in danger of unnecessary suffering.

A doctor testified that if the child did not get the transfusion and lived, it would be a mental defective.

The father, a juvenile court rules, forbade the publication of his name—still refused permission for the operation.

"My wife and I are dedicated servants of God, and the decisions we are making are on His word," he said. "If we take a course of action which might prolong life now, everlasting life will be cut off."

As the minutes ticked by, the father, a 30-year-old farmer, was asked if he would take the child into his home if the operation was performed.

"Yes, I love the child," he replied.

The magistrate, Lady Rothschild, quickly committed the baby temporarily into the welfare officer's care, and thus allowed her to give permission for the operation.

It is believed to be the first time such action has been taken by a British court.

ALBERTA MAN CLAIMS DISCOVERY

Radiation Shield Found?

EDMONTON (CP)—An Alberta professor Thursday announced discovery of a chemical agent which may protect human beings from the dangers of radiation.

The agent may also have potentials in the fields of nuclear fallout and cancer.

Dr. Jan Weijer, a Priesian professor of genetics at the University of Alberta, who has been seeking the breakthrough for the last three years, said he came up with the calcium-based agent after recent research at the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont.

"At the moment, there is a good, honest hope that we'll be able in future to further develop calcium as a radiation protective to such an extent that some of the fear which now looms over the world can be reduced," the 36-year-old old professor said.

A major significance of this "mobilized" calcium agent is that it is the first agent found which can be used in unlimited quantities in repairing cell damage caused by X-rays.

Working with the bread-

mould neurospora crassa, he has found that the presence of calcium in the nutrient broth on which this micro-organism is cultivated has a "substantial" effect on the survival rate of the mold after X-ray irradiation.

Higher Court Trial Faces Young Driver

Enough evidence to commit for trial a young Victoria driver for criminal negligence in the death of a 19-year-old pedestrian Oct. 1 has been entered in a preliminary hearing ended in Colwood RCMP court Thursday.

Magistrate William Ostler said he would delay formal commitment of James William Hamilton, 20, until 9.30 a.m. Wednesday.

Gary Samuel Stentford, 900 Lavender, died instantly from injury received in collision with a car driven by Hamilton on Goldstream near Spencer at about 8 p.m.

Both his car and one occupied by three other youths, who testified Hamilton's car was trying to pass them at the time, were entered as exhibits.

The speed of the other car was estimated at about 40 miles an hour, court was told.

"There are other factors in addition to speed," Magistrate Ostler said. "The riding up close to the other bumper . . . he cited as an example."

"I find there is enough evidence to commit."

'SHE DID A MAGNIFICENT JOB'

Callous Neglect Charge Hurlled As Child Welfare Chief Resigns

Resignation of the provincial government's top social worker today brought sad reaction and an indictment of B.C. welfare policy.

Ruby McKay, 55, has resigned as superintendent of child welfare for the B.C. government effective Dec. 31.

"My government knows the reason," she told the Times. "The government isn't offering one, but welfare workers cite skimping programming, slashes in staff as two major reasons. While new cases pile up, staff has plunged from 243 to 209 in five years."

MAY LEAVE B.C.

Miss McKay said she has not retired from social work and plans to find another job in child welfare service. It might mean moving away from B.C., she said.

However, there is speculation she may be sought by the Community Welfare Council here for the vacant post of managing director, currently being nationally advertised. It's believed the council could offer Miss McKay a salary within the range of the $7,980 she gets from the government.

Provincial officials expressed regret at Miss McKay's resignation after 16 years as superintendent and 21 years with the department.

Social workers were upset at the loss of a highly-regarded colleague.

They cited conflict between Miss McKay and the government over sliding standards, shortage of staff, low pay and inadequate programming.

There just aren't enough workers to go around, they said, and as a result many provincial programs are taken only half-way.

"I am shocked at the resignation," said Dave Barrett, of the John Howard Society and new CCF member of the legislature for Dewdney.

A statement from the CCF MLA called Miss McKay "a bulwark" of the social welfare department.

He said there has been "a steady deterioration in our social welfare service since our government took office." The resignation means "a further deterioration."

"There has been a callous neglect of our social services," said Mr. Barrett, who was a social worker in Haney Correctional Institute until he was fired by the government for seeking the CCF nomination in the last election.

"Since 1952 there has been a constant resignation of our social workers," he said.

The percentage of university-trained workers has slumped from 70 to 30 per cent since 1952, he said.

LONG FIGHT

Miss McKay had put up a long battle to maintain standards, said Mr. Barrett. "She did a magnificent job, receiving little or no support from the government."

Since 1952 the history of the social welfare department as a whole has been a steady decline in staff with a greater drop in the proportion of university-trained members.

In 1954, total social worker staff of the department was 243, of whom 157 were university trained. At that time the department handled a total of 60,468 cases.

In 1958 total staff was 214, of whom 93 were university trained. Total cases handled were 61,783.

At March 31, 1959, last official figures available, total staff was 209, of whom only 77 were university trained. Total cases handled were 69,046.

In the 1954-1955 year, a total of 53 staff members resigned.

61 QUIT

In the 1958-1959 year, a total of 61 resigned.

Deputy welfare minister E. R. Dickinson said Miss McKay's resignation was received "with deep regret."

He said he knows of no conflict in the department.

Welfare Minister Wesley Black is in Eastern Canada and unavailable for comment.

"She will be a great loss to the department for I don't think there is anyone in Canada better qualified for welfare and children's services," Mr. Dickinson said.

William Scoones, president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Association of Social Workers, said the organization is very concerned about choice of Miss McKay's successor.

The department hasn't named anyone yet.

Miss McKay joined the welfare department in 1939, was appointed deputy superintendent of child welfare in 1942 and superintendent in 1944.

Miss McKay won widespread sympathy two years ago when she was attacked in her office in the Legislative Buildings by three women members of the Donkeyhobor Sons of Freedom sect.

Mauled and scratched, she had to receive medical care after the women had gone to her office demanding release of their children from the New Denver School.

MILD BUT WET FOR WEEKEND

The weekend will likely be watery, with the off-chance the sun may break through Sunday.

The weatherman said today there will be rain tonight and Saturday with winds between 20 and 25 m.p.h. as a new storm centre moves in from the Gulf of Alaska.

Students Share In $22,330

Prize-Givings At Two Schools

Top graduates of two high schools today split a total pot of $22,330 awarded for brains and diligence.

Winners of scholarships, bursaries and provincial government university fee remissions were honored at prize-giving ceremonies in Victoria High School and Oak Bay High School.

The parade of academic achievement was to continue tonight at 8 in the Gordon Head campus auditorium where Victoria College students are to receive awards.

SIXTH TIME

At the Victoria High School ceremony some $8,800 in scholarships was to be presented and $5,800 in university fee remissions announced along with the top scholastic award obtainable by a B.C. high school graduate — the Governor-General's Gold Medal — the sixth time in the last decade that a VHS graduate has won the prize.

The medal winner is Terry Leung, now enrolled at Victoria College, who scored the highest marks in the province at last spring's university entrance examinations.

He also becomes the first winner of the school's new Scholastic Achievement Trophy, a $750 Bank of Montreal Scholarship, a $500 Standard Oil Company Scholarship, and a slide rule awarded by the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.

Other VHS scholarship winners are:

John Sargent, second highest student in Greater Victoria school district, a $500 University and Chris Spencer Scholarship; the Bausch and Lomb Science Medal and a slide rule; David Haegert, third highest student in the school district, a $500 University and Chris Spencer Scholarship.

Eric Carlsen, $250 Matilda Horspool Scholarship and a slide rule; Katherine Bergbusch and Albert Walters, $150 Women's Canadian Club Scholarships; Steven Hodge, $150 Greater Victoria Teachers' Association Scholarship; Carolyn McCammon, $300 UBC Alumnus Scholarship; Anne Kemp, $150 PTA Council Bursary.

GREEN MEMORIAL

Stuart Brown, $100 Cecelia Green Memorial Scholarship; Catherine Hatch, $50 Dorothea Hay Memorial Scholarship; Jack McLaren, $400 for four years, IODE Provincial Bursary; Doreene Rogers, $250 B.C. Government Employees' Scholarship; Margaret Austin, $300 Canadian Legion Provincial Command Scholarship; Diane McNie, $150 Bay Wiley Memorial Scholarship; Gordon Osborne, $400 La-

OVER 80 %

In addition, honors were accorded 24 graduates who bettered 80 per cent in their examinations and qualified for a 50 per cent remission of university fees and 18 who bettered 70 per cent to qualify for a 33 per cent remission.

At Oak Bay High School, the top honor — the $400 Lillian McNiven Memorial Bursary — went to Shirley Doreen Menkes who led the graduating class with 90.875 per cent. Other prize winners were:

Sandra McKeachie, $150 Oak Bay Kiwanis Scholarship; Douglas Edward Jubb, $100 Lady Laurier Bursary; Colin William Marmo, $50 Allied Printing Trades Award; Julia Margaret McDiarmid, $150 PTA Council Scholarship; Peter Kerr and John Youson, $100 Oak Bay High School Parents' Auxiliary Scholarships.

Ronald Boyd Roberts, $50 Capt. Dexter Memorial Bursary; Kenneth Foster, slide rule from the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.; Susan McPherson, $400 for four years, IODE Provincial Chapter Bursary, and a special $100 bursary; Robin Estlin, $50 Oak Leaf Junior Chapter, IODE, Scholarship; Michael John Brian Fairweather, $100 Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion Scholarship; Lynn Peachey, $200 Charlesworth Scholarship, and Lynda Holker, $50 OBHS Parent Auxiliary Scholarship.

All told, the scholarships were worth $3,100. In addition, congratulations were extended 17 OBHS graduates, who took first-class honors and 50 per cent remission of university fees, and 14 who took second-class honors and 33 per cent remission.

$1,000 Bail For Accused In Shooting

Bail was set at $1,000 for a Saanich man who appeared in Saanich police court Thursday charged with wounding his next-door neighbor in an early morning disturbance.

Raymond Frederick Peterson, 30, of 927 Scotia, is charged in the shooting of James Turnbull, 31, of 919 Scotia, and was remanded for election to next Thursday on application of counsel Joseph McKenna.

Turnbull's brother Dennis, 1256 Ryan, is charged with assault causing bodily harm to Peterson, and was remanded to next Thursday for plea. He is represented by James Proudfoot.

SATISFACTORY

Condition of the other Turnbull, who underwent surgery for removal of a 44 bullet from his right shoulder at Jubilee, was reported to be satisfactory today.

Police said the shooting apparently arose from a drinking party that lasted until about 4:30 a.m. Thursday at the Turnbull place.

'Consumers Need Break' —Pickersgill

A lower cost-of-living and government action "by any means" must be achieved to beat "the biggest problem of all" of unemployment, former federal immigration minister J. W. Pickersgill said here today.

The Liberal MP took a swipe at a lot of institutions—particularly those of the Conservative federal government—as he held court this morning in an hour of jokes, thrusts, parries and comments.

Mr. Pickersgill addresses the annual meeting of Esquimalt-Saanich Federal Liberal Association at 8 tonight in Lake Hill Community Hall. He is MP for Bonaville-Twillingate in Newfoundland.

PRIORITY

Unemployment is any government's priority problem, he said.

"The first job of government is to take every kind of step to see if people who are willing to work can get work, even if some of those steps seem unorthodox or hard to justify."

The Conservatives' "through extraordinary mismanagement of our finances" had cost the nation confidence in economic expansion.

Relying on government projects is admitting defeat. Industrial and business expansion of every kind everywhere must be sought.

"I can't believe the way to improve the auto industry is to raise the price of imported autos," he said. (This was recently proposed by Ottawa.)

"The way is to get the prices of Canadian autos down a bit and give the consumer a break."

If labor could agree that lower wages and a lower cost of living can go hand-in-hand, then a great deal of the home problems would be solved.

Ladysmith Woman 'Fair' After Bridge Crash

Driver of a car that smashed into a concrete abutment of the Diamond Overpass Bridge near Ladysmith, mounted a curb and tore out a 10-foot section of steel railing before coming to rest down a six-foot bank above the railway tracks is only in "fair" condition at Ladysmith General Hospital.

The 30-year-old woman, who is suffering from severe shock, a broken pelvis and other internal injuries. The car was demolished.

Five-Year Term For $90 Theft AT Launderette

Grant Shaver of no fixed address was sentenced to five years in the B.C. penitentiary today for breaking, entering and theft at the Sparkle Bright Launderette, 2584 Quadra, on July 12 last.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane passed sentence in Assize Court, Victoria, after a 12-man jury found Shaver guilty.

About $90 in coins was taken from the machines and from a cigaret vending machine in the launderette.

David Hummel, in his defence of Shaver, argued that the evidence against him was "only circumstantial."

He asked the jury not to be prejudiced by the fact that Shaver and some of his companions had been frequenting a bootlegging establishment in the Kings Road near the launderette.

"Some of the people this case has attracted are not the sort of people you would take home to your wife as dinner guests," Mr. Hummel said.

"For that reason it is terribly important that you demonstrate to them a sense of fair play which will be a definite guide and example to them all."

"If you make a mistake in convicting this man, they will know it for a mistake and conclude that the law is prejudiced against them."

ONE OF THREE

Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the jury men they must be satisfied that Shaver was one of three thieves who broke into the launderette.

He emphasized that Shaver's fingerprints were found on a laundromat coin box.

"This fingerprint could not be there if the box had not been taken out of the machine. It was not possible for any person to put his finger on that box when it was inside the machine and in its proper place."

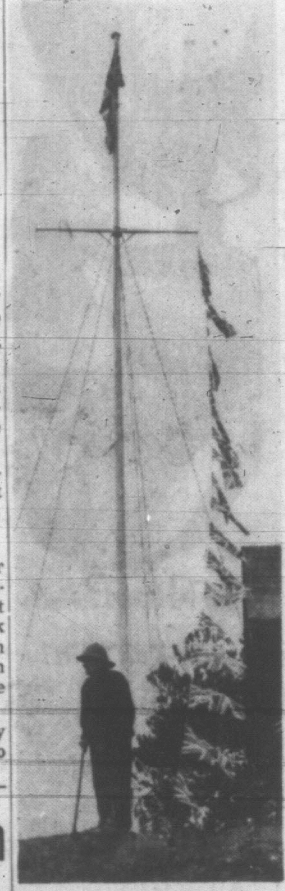

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: David James Colvin, 360 Lampson Street, $10, inadequate muffler.

Peter George F. Gorrell, 1828 San Juan Avenue, $10, no drivers' licence.

Charles Streifel, HMCS Stettler, $20, failing to yield right-of-way to a pedestrian.

Hugh Martin Mills, Elk Lake Auto Court Oak, $20, for allowing a passenger to interfere with proper operation of vehicle.

NEW FILMS PROVE IT

The Scots DO Have Something

By PHIL LEE
Times Movie Reviewer

Lowly Sassenachs—perhaps even the Irish—who happened to stray into Hollywood House Thursday evening would have had to admit that the Scots had found something after all.

Actually that is exactly what founders of the Films of Scotland Committee had in mind when it founded the organization in 1955—to show the world there was something more to Scotland than highland flings and caber tossings.

Before 325 attending the meeting arranged by the St. Andrew's Caledonian Society, committee director H. Forsyth Hardy, who is also secretary of the Edinburgh Film Festival, introduced several films that will soon make their way into the commercial theatre houses of Canada.

LOVED IT
To judge by the air and general rustle as each was introduced local Scots were in their seventh-heaven, doubtless revelling in memories, nostalgia and pardonable pride.

There was, for instance, "Busman's Holiday," that told of a Galloway bus driver taking a coach tour to John O'Groats, and another that made one more aware than ever of Scotland's ancient history called "A Land Lived In."

It showed some of the work being done under the aegis of the National Trust for Scotland to preserve historic buildings and sites.

Pride of the evening, however, doubtless was considered to be the 29-minute documentary film called "Seaways to the Great Shipyards," dedicated to the great Clyde shipbuilding industry for which Scotland is known throughout the world.

Although a superb example of documentary photography measured in terms of shipbuilding I was somewhat disappointed by the story treatment of John Grierson, one-time head of Canada's National Film Board. For my money, it took too much for granted.

I wished that the film had been longer, even an extra 10 minutes would have done the trick. I would have seen the homes of the workers.

I would like also to have been shown more of the amazing river that is so narrow and yet has received from the ways some of the greatest ships in the world. At the same time I would like to have been told the names of the storied craft, some who have altered the outcome of great sea battles.

SOME HUMOR
I think, too, I could have used more humor. For instance, what about the story about the American troops jammed aboard one of the World War—either the Queen Mary or Queen Elizabeth—shouting down at the men of Clyde who had built her: "I bet you dumb Scots have never seen a ship like this before."

Mr. Hardy was introduced by Charlie Cameron, president of the society.

'OLD RELIABLES' TO CARRY CAR PARK VISITORS MONDAY

Civic and business officials invited to the official 4:30 p.m. Monday opening of Eaton's new $750,000 downtown car park will tour the nine-level structure in four venerable cars belonging to members of the Victoria Vintage Car Club.

The car park itself will be opened by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The new parking accommodation, which can handle 2,000 cars daily, has actually been in operation since Oct. 1.

Among persons on hand will be David Kinnear, general manager of Eaton's B.C. division and company director, and R. Bentall, first vice-president of Dominion Construction which handled the job.

MONTE ROBERTS

After all these years, I have finally reached an area of agreement with Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

You remember Mrs. Arsens? Prettiest hats in the Legislative Chamber. Two garbage cans in every backyard. Don't put anything but water in the water. Vote no to sarsaparilla. Hurray for motherhood, and the back of my hand to sin.

Mrs. Arsens, unfortunately removed from public office by the voter's whim, is still, I am glad to say, active.

And through a letter to the editor in yesterday's Times, she produced the area in which I am happy to reach agreement with her.

The letter was not very long, but it was very pointed. It pointed out that this newspaper has a tendency to print news of "bold robberies, gruesome murders, indecent acts and immoral living."

Mrs. Arsens' letter also took exception to the photographs which this newspaper publishes of "our young girls at beauty queen contests."

She claims this newspaper is inclined to ignore the faces of these young ladies, and concentrate its cameras on other portions of the anatomy, to which she refers in terms so specific I wouldn't be allowed to quote them here.

Nor would I wish to, having reached such an advanced age that... but let's not investigate my aged id at this stage.

What I liked best about Mrs. Arsens' letter, and where the area of agreement was reached, was in her heartfelt (I am sure) wish that "perhaps someday, and I hope it will be yours, Mr. Editor, we will have a good newspaper."

I hope so, too, Mrs. Arsens.

I hope, someday, we can put out a newspaper which reports no murders, no divorces, no immoral acts, no robberies, no international tensions, no little wars or big wars, no flood, famine, pestilence or starvation.

I can assure you, Mrs. Arsens, this would be the ideal newspaper, and I can further assure you we will print this ideal newspaper, on the very first day there is no news-but good news.

When all the news is good, this newspaper will be good.

An ideal situation: Mrs. Arsens, and bless you for being enough of an idealist to envisage it.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a field trip to explore the old copper mine on Mt. Douglas.

If the weather is bad the meeting will be held in the Provincial Museum at 7 p.m.

Annual dinner of the 114th company, Veterans' Guard of Canada, will be held at 6:30 p.m. in Hollywood House.

J. R. Wright, 1059 North Park, was fined $25 and ordered to pay a $25 licence fee when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to soliciting business as a salesman without a trade licence.

George McMillan, shipper for Canada Dry Bottling Ltd., reported to police today an attempted break-in Thursday night at the company's building, 629 David Street. A window on the east side of the building was cut open with a glass cutter. No one entered the premises.

Former chief petty officer David B. Cutler, 1200 West Burnside, has been promoted to the rank of acting commissioned officer in the Royal Canadian Navy.

On Oct. 28, he will commence a six-week officers' division course at HMCS Cornwallis before taking up an appointment with the fleet.

H. N. Pemberton, chief engineer surveyor to Lloyd's Register of Shipping, will address the Victoria section, Institute of Marine Engineers, Monday at 8 p.m. in the Dockyard officers' club.

His subject will be "Marine Machinery Failures."

Engineers wishing to attend should contact J. McPherson at EV 4-5672.

Esquimalt Sailor Accused of Theft

NANAIMO (CP) — William George Baxter, 21, of Nanaimo, a member of the Canadian Navy stationed at Esquimalt, has been charged with breaking, entering and theft from a Canadian Legion branch and a service station here last weekend.

He is the second man charged. The break-ins netted an estimated $1,500 in liquor, cigarets, tools, tires and a car.

Hearing Opens in Murder of Boy

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — The first of an expected 33 Crown witnesses appeared today as the preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Charles Murrell Heathman, 32, opened before Magistrate Frank Smith.

Heathman is charged in the suffocation slaying of Donald John Otley, 10-year-old newspaper delivery boy whose body was found Sept. 5 in Vernon's "hobo jungle." The hearing is expected to last three days.

Police Leave Cancelled for Grey Cup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver City Police Department has cancelled all weekly police leaves for Nov. 25 and 26, the weekend the Grey Cup football final is scheduled here.

Gangland Murder Victim Identified

DETROIT (CP) — The victim of a gangland slaying whose dismembered body was found in seven potato sacks along a Macomb County road Thursday, has been identified as Chris Scroy, a Detroit racketeer once connected with bookmaking operations in Windsor, Ont.

'WE WON'T BE PUSHED OUT'

U.S. Will Hold
Base in Cuba

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said Thursday that the navy won't be pushed out of its base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Naval Base
Strength
'Beefed Up'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The navy reported today it has beefed up its marine contingent at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba.

The action coincided with diplomatic reports here that Cuba is expected to establish diplomatic relations shortly with Communist East Germany, further tightening Castro's political and economic ties with the Soviet and Communist Chinese bloc.

The navy declined to disclose the size of the increase but a spokesman said it was "not large." The normal marine complement at Guantanamo is 180 enlisted men and eight officers, the spokesman said.

'Buy Canada'
Cuban Theme

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says four businessmen left Havana for Toronto this week with Cuban orders for $7,500,000 worth of Canadian goods.

The newspaper says its information was from Roger ParLOUR, Canadian commercial secretary in Havana, who is quoted as saying every Cuban government agency is "shopping furiously for almost everything they can get."

More Canadian Sales
If Cubans Can Pay

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times says in an article today most Canadian exporters expect to increase sales to Cuba as a result of the United States embargo on U.S. exports.

But, says a dispatch from Montreal, the increase will be dependent upon Cuba's ability to pay cash and whether the U.S. will apply the Foreign Assets Control Act.

Application of the Act would mean no Canadian subsidiary of an American corporation could trade with Cuba. Canada has protested use of the Act on previous occasions in trade with Communist China and got from the U.S. a reluctant agreement not to Black Market to Help?

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's economic czar said Thursday night the U.S. embargo on most exports to Cuba will not seriously harm the island nation, partly because black marketers in the United States will defy it.

But National Bank president Ernesto Che Guevara conceded Cuba faces difficulties. He said Cuba "must have confidence in the solidarity of the nations that have offered to stand by us."

Exemption of Canadian banks from Premier Fidel Castro's nationalization moves takes on "additional significance," The Financial Times says.

"The banks are obviously to be used to finance Canadian trade with Cuba—probably through extended credits to the government—as the price of remaining in business."

Canadian sales to Cuba, mostly newsprint, total about $16,000,000 a year while Canadian purchases from Cuba total $12,000,000, half the amount being sugar.

UN REJECTS
ULTIMATUM

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Authoritative sources said today the United Nations command has rejected a four-point ultimatum presented Thursday by Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu.

The four demands were listed as:
Withdrawal of U.N. troops from arms depots in the Congolese army camp at Leopoldville.

Free use of arms stored there by Congolese troops.

The right of the Congolese army to use Leopoldville's Ndjili airport for military traffic.

Permission to increase the number of Congolese troops at the airfield.

Thornton Remains In Jail

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Idaho contractor will spend the weekend in jail after the British Columbia Court of Appeal adjourned until Monday his application for bail.

Clyde W. Thornton of Bonner's Ferry was convicted Wednesday of contempt of court and committed to Oakalla prison farm. Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi of B.C. was fined $1,000 on a similar charge, which followed payment of highways department money to Thornton in contravention of a year-old court order.

Both have appealed the ruling by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris.

Thornton's lawyer applied to the appeal court for bail today, seeking the contractor's release until the hearing of his appeal, and his application was adjourned to Monday.

De Gaulle
Takes Issue
To People

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle today called for national unity in the face of the most severe threat yet to his regime.

De Gaulle opened a three-day tour of southeast France with a defence of his government while opposition to his plans to make France an independent nuclear power gathered strength in the capital.

De Gaulle said it has found stable institutions, established economic stability, freed some African colonies and we are in the process of building an Algerian Algeria.

Monday the government of Premier Michel Debre faces a censure motion over de Gaulle's nuclear plans. If it loses the government would fall.

N.Y. Manager
Fires Ed Lopat

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first reorganization move under the new manager, Ralph Houk, New York Yankees today released Ed Lopat, pitching coach.

The move was made, a club announcement said, to give Lopat an opportunity to make another major league connection.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Company today asked United States government authority to put up a space satellite as the first station in a proposed international communications system. It said it wished to do this within a year.

This would be the first satellite launched under private auspices, and the first commercial application of satellites.

The project would be financed and operated by American Telephone in co-ordination with telephone administrations abroad.

The company made no immediate estimate of the total costs.

Driver Charged
After Accident

Two Colwood district brothers were killed early today when crushed between a car and a tow truck while helping a friend whose car had left the road.

Dead are Jack L. Cameron, 32, of 2253 Sooke Road, and Tom Cameron, 35, also of Sooke Road.

The accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. on Sooke Road, immediately east of Dewdney Flats.

According to reports, a tow truck owned by Jack Cameron, proprietor of Colwood Royalite Service, had been used to pull a car owned by Gerry Van Humbeck of Sooke from a ditch.

When it was safely on the pavement the two brothers crouched between the car and the truck to attach a sway plate for safer towing. As they knelt, a car driven west by William John Stewart, Kemp Lake Road, Sooke, crashed into the tow truck and caught the two men between the vehicles.

DIED INSTANTLY

Jack Cameron apparently died instantly.

His brother revived long enough to say "How's my brother?" then he too collapsed.

Mrs. Dorothy Stewart, 47, passenger in the other car, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Langford ambulance for treatment of head injuries. Her condition was described today as "fair-Jack Cameron died instantly."

Stewart was charged by Colwood RCMP with impaired driving, and was scheduled to appear in Colwood police court this afternoon.

Mr. Van Humbeck said today he had been driving to Sooke when he was forced off the road and into a ditch by the bright headlights of an oncoming car.

JUMPED CLEAR

Shortly after, his friend, Tom Cameron, came by, and suggested having his brother pull the car out. They roused Jack Cameron, got the truck, and all three returned to the scene.

Van Humbeck was with the victims as they hooked car and tow truck together.

"I saw the other car coming and yelled 'look out,' then jumped," he said. "When Tom asked me about his brother, I said 'he's dead.'"

Gold Boom
Collapses

(See also page 12.)

(Times News Services) The swift puncturing of the "gold bubble" that sent the price of bullion soaring to $40.60 in London Thursday and $42 in Toronto had experts puzzling over who profited.

Somebody made a lot of money and somebody lost a lot in the wild scrambling market. The gold fever definitely had subsided in London today as the opening price fell to $36.55, down almost $4 from Thursday's top.

But across the world in Hong Kong, the fever broke out again briefly today sending the price up to U.S. $50.85, before trading was suspended.

Power From Columbia
46 Per Cent Cheaper

VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbia River downstream power can be delivered in Vancouver for 3.77 mills a kilowatt, Justice Minister Fulton told a Vancouver newspaper in a telephone interview from Ottawa.

Mr. Fulton, head of Canada's negotiating team with the United States on Columbia development, corrected earlier reports that Columbia power would be four mills delivered to a transmission station at Oliver.

Earlier estimates placed cost for the industrialized Lower Mainland of B.C. at 5.5 or six mills.

Mr. Fulton's figure would

be 46 per cent cheaper than the present average cost of seven mills in Vancouver on power from B.C. Electric Co.

The low cost would be attributable to downstream benefits from added generation in the U.S. through water storage in Canada.

Mr. Fulton also said Ottawa reserves the right to see that Columbia downstream power is used judiciously. If it is surplus to B.C.'s power needs in 1970, he said, it may be left in the United States for adequate compensation.

But this would not be permitted if B.C. had to pay high rates for an alternate source of electricity.
